IN THE BEE TO-DAY

WEATHER.

The local forecast for to-day is clear weather; slight change in temperature. For Sunday, warmer, fair, probably flurries of snow.

Observer Hagen says: The "high" area referred to yesterday is to-day over the lower lakes and extends southward to Alabama with its center lying parallel and east of Lakes Erie and Huron. The temperature is rising rapidly throughout the west. The greatest rise is at Rapid City, Dakota, where it rose 34 degrees since yesterday morning. It is also rising in the Canadian northwest, but an advancing "high" will lower it after 24 hours.

These sudden changes are due to a storm ("low") which developed last night in Wyoming, and which is now central in southwest Dakota, and which will pass northeastward over Lake Superior Sunday night. Warmer weather may be expected in Toledo until the disappearance of this "low" and its influence, which will probably be Monday morning. Cold weather will then follow. Snow will fall on Lakes Superior, Michigan, and Huron, and probably Erie, on Sunday evening. The maximum temperature here yesterday was 20 degrees; the lowest this morning was 7 degrees.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Forecast for Ohio, Indiana: Generally fair, except snow flurries on the lakes; warmer; winds becoming south.

THE DOGS OF WAR

Have Long Been Tugging at Their Chains,

And Are Anxious for a Bout With Chile.

Sensational Cabinet Meeting Yesterday.

War Clouds Grow Darker Each Hour.

Chile Must Apologize at Once or Fight.

The Climax Has Nearly Been Reached.

A Message From the President is Expected Next Week Asking Congress for Permission to Declare War — Ex-Confederates to be Taken Into the Army.

New York, Jan. 16.—The Recorder this morning has a most alarming special from Washington in regard to the Chilean situation.

All signs, it declares, point to war, and that within a short time. In speaking of the cabinet meeting held yesterday the Recorder says:

"Not within a quarter of a century has a cabinet meeting been fuller of important contingencies than that which was held for nearly three hours yesterday.

"The president informed his cabinet of many things he had not mentioned before. Two weeks ago he directed that each United States consul in Chile be called upon for a confidential report touching the sentiments of the people toward the United States. These reports have been arriving for the last week. They are unanimous in stating that there is an unfriendly feeling against this country.

The report of Consul McCreary at Valparaiso is particularly interesting. 'Until the last month,' said McCreary, 'I had no uneasiness in regard to my personal safety, but since then I have been warned that I must be careful when out at night—that there are persons who will take advantage of any opportunity that offers to do me personal injury—not because of anything I have done, but simply on account of their uncontrollable hatred to the United States.

"The consuls of other nations assure their American friends that they had better leave Chile as quick as possible, that a rupture between the United States and Chile seems inevitable and if this does not occur they will be in danger of losing their lives and property.'

"The reports created a profound sensation. The president then outlined his present plans. He expects the full report of Judge Advocate Remey's investigation by Tuesday next. He is fully informed as to what it will contain and is preparing his message so that it may be ready to go to congress by Wednesday noon.

"Though it was not definitely settled, it was understood that under no conditions will Chile be allowed to go beyond this month in replying to the American demand. One thing was evident to every member of the cabinet; it was that the trouble could have been avoided by the recall of Minister Egan last September.

"It is said the congressionalists earnestly requested his recall then. It could have been done without wounding American sensibilities when his letter declaring Balmaceda must succeed was first published.

Mr. Blaine said little yesterday."

"It was a grave and very serious meeting and every man present felt his responsibility to the country," said a cabinet minister last night.

"One incident was interesting. The president spoke very strongly of the attitude of the southern congressmen toward the administration in this crisis. Mr. Herbert, said he, has introduced a resolution repealing the act forbidding ex-confederates to be appointed in the army and navy.

"I have favored it and now I hope every republican will vote for its passage."

Secretary Tracy had been directed to report at once the number of war vessels ready for service, and within a few days sail of Valparaiso. His report was as follows:

"The Boston, Capt. Wiltse, is now at Valparaiso, as is the Yorktown, Capt. Evans. The Benningtom, Capt. Bradford, is now at Montevideo. The Charleston, Capt. Remey, and the San Francisco, Admiral Brown, are at San Diego. The Baltimore, Capt. Schley, is at San Francisco. The Chicago, Admiral Walker, the Yantic, Capt. Belden, and the Essex, Capt. Snow, are at Montevideo. The Concord, Capt. Batchellor, is on her way to Montevideo, and the Newark, Capt. Casey, is en route to the same port. The Philadelphia, Admiral Gherardi, was last reported from St. Thomas, with sealed orders (which means some Chilean port).

"The vessels," Secretary Tracy informed the cabinet, "are in first-class fighting trim. Capt. Schley, of the Baltimore, has asked to be sent back to Valparaiso if there is to be active service. I replied that as soon as his ship was overhauled and her bottom cleaned and painted he could go."

This makes 13 of the best vessels the United States owns, all concentrated within easy distance of Chilean ports, and it was said last night that the Miantonomoh would be sent to guard the Straits of Magellan.

There is uneasiness about San Francisco, for the navy department has unquestionable news that at least two Chilean commanders mean to make a dash for that city the instant war is declared, and levy an indemnity on that city or lay it in ashes. There will be 16 more 8-inch and 10-inch rifles ready February 1, and half of them will be at once shipped to Valparaiso.

Naval officers here are feeling very serious. They have no doubt of the fighting qualities of the Chilean navy, nor of their enterprise, and all say if it does come to blows it will be a very bitterly fought out war.

The navy is not alone interested in the new and startling developments. Confidential orders were issued to the general superintendent of recruiting at New York yesterday to accept every available man fit for artillery or infantry. Gen. Schofield intends filling up the infantry regiments to their maximum of 1,000, rank and file. Recruits are coming forward in unusual numbers just now, and the reports are that 300 were accepted from four stations alone this week.

Everything now looks like trouble. Nothing except an apology from Chile will prevent it, and the South American ministers here declare that President Moutt will not dare offer it. They say his people would despise him if he did.

TUGGING AT THEIR CHAINS.

The Dogs of War Eager for a Skirmish with Pouty Chile.

New York, Jan. 16.—The Herald's Washington special on the Chilean situation, says:

"The dogs of war are tugging at their chains.

"President Harrison is ready to let them slip and will be very much disappointed if somebody puts a muzzle on them.

"The trouble with Chile is fast approaching a climax. Whether it shall be war or peace will be known in a very few days.

"The attitude of the administration has not changed a particle. The president is growing more and more irritated over the delay of Chile in answering his demand for an apology and an indemnity for the assault upon the Baltimore's sailors.

"For a time it seemed as if the matter would be settled through Secretary Blaine and Minister Montt, but that hope has gone by. The president intends to attend to it himself. Expecting as he does ultimately to ask for a declaration of war, the president is consulting daily with leading democratic congressmen as to the sentiment in congress and the disposition regarding necessary appropriations.

"I am told that he has convinced Mr. Carlisle that peace without an apology from Chile is not compatible with the dignity of the country and all the leading democrats have said they will stand by him in case he deems it necessary to teach Chile a lesson.

"It is generally believed that the president's message will appeal to the American spirit in congress and it will stand behind him to a man."

AS VIEWED IN CHILE.

There is No War Talk in That Country and Everybody is for Peace.

New York, Jan. 16.—The Herald's Valparaiso dispatch this morning is in direct contradiction to those received here from Washington. It is as follows:

"There has been a decided improvement in the situation within the past 24 hours. There is now no war talk in Valparaiso among those whose opinions have weight with the government.

"Minister Montt has cabled from Washington that he has assurance of an early settlement of the questions arising from the assault upon the American seamen, and the minister of foreign affairs here has assured Minister Egan that the Chilean government will punish all persons who have insulted Americans.

"I am told on semi-official authority that Minister Montt at Washington has been instructed to act in the most conciliatory manner. Under these instructions he will avoid all difficulties that might bring about war.

"United States Minister Egan now meets with great consideration when visiting the Moneda. Diplomatic cavillers acknowledge his success."

FOUND A DEATH TRAP

Where Many Men Have Lost Their Lives.

The Home of a Gang of Cutthroats Discovered With All the Evidence of Murderous Crime.

Chandler, O. T., Jan. 16.—For years the disappearance of travelers in the Indian country, across the river from here, has been frequent and mysterious.

Yesterday in a dense wood, a mile from the road, a house was found which was approached only by a long circuitous trail and thereby the mysterious disappearance explained.

The house construction shows that it was built by and for the use of robbers and criminals generally. It is a cabin of four rooms, one behind the next.

In the doorway between the first and second was found a trap over which the unwary stranger must pass. By an arrangement of bolts this trap, which led to a large cavern below, could be worked much like an execution scaffold. That murder was the purpose of the trap was shown by the discovery of hair, dried blood and bones on the rocks at the bottom of the pits under the trap. The inhabitants of the den, however, are missing.

MADE AN ASSIGNMENT.

New York, Jan. 16.—Metz & Co., general printers at No. 60 John street, have made an assignment with preferences.

VISITED BY FIRE.

A Fierce Conflagration in Au Sauble.

Nineteen Buildings Completely Destroyed.

Frozen Hydrants Contributed to the Damages,

And the Water Pumps Refused to Work.

In a Few Short Hours Over a Hundred Thousand Dollars Worth of Property was Consumed by the Flames.

Oscoda, Mich., Jan. 16.—The most destructive fire Au Sable has ever suffered started in the dry goods store of Dan Rosenthal & Co., at 8:45 last evening, and was not gotten under control until 1 o'clock this morning, after 19 buildings had been burned.

All the hydrants within two blocks of where the fire started were found to be frozen, and a delay of half an hour was experienced in getting the first water on, and then the water works pump refused to work satisfactorily, and only two small streams could be thrown.

The thermometer stood at zero, and this greatly retarded the work.

The store of D. Rosenthal is in the center of the business portion of Au Sable, and the fire spread both north and south on the west side of River street.

On the south was a double store building belonging to H. Aldred, and occupied by S. Peca, a merchant tailor, and by H. Aldred, jeweler.

The next was a double building occupied by a saloon and barber shop, the second story being occupied as a residence.

Adjoining was the cigar manufactory of A. Jabarus.

The next to burn was a building owned by A. Banenfant and occupied by him as a saloon. Mr. Banenfant owned the next building also, a grocery store.

Here the progress of the fire to the south on the west side of the street was stopped and the fire crossed the street and destroyed five buildings—one occupied by H. Quesnet as a blacksmith and wagon shop; the second by Charles Porter, fish and ice market; third by Eugene Larocke, boot and shoe manufacturer; the fourth vacant and the fifth occupied by J. W. Salt, with a bakery and groceries.

To the north from Rosenthal's building the fire spread to two buildings occupied by Rumford & Vernor's bazaar, and Mrs. Jappan's millinery store. The upper stories were occupied by R. M. Pellier, dentist, and a private family.

The next building was owned and occupied by Wilcox & Richards, hardware dealers, and by Wilcox, Richards & Cooles, tinsmiths, plumbers and iron workers.

The next was occupied by R. McCormick with saddlery and harness goods, and a manufactory in the same line, the second floor being a lodge room occupied by a number of societies.

The next building to go was the mammoth building known as Red Ribbon hall, owned by the ladies of the W. C. T. U. It was occupied on the first floor as a boarding house by Mrs. Wilson, and one portion as a reading room and library. The second floor had recently been finished for circuit court purposes.

The last two buildings to burn were owned by A. Weir and H. Hall. Mr. Hall occupied his building with a stock of groceries and with his residence. Here the fire was placed under control. The heaviest losers are D. Rosenthal & Co., $20,000, and Wilcox & Richards, $20,000.

River street, Au Sable, this morning for a distance of 1,000 or 1,500 feet is a desolate place. The loss on buildings and stocks is estimated at over $100,000; partly insured.

SCIENCE OF SPELLING.

Uncle Sam Invited to Attend the Meeting.

Mr. Newberry, of Illinois, Wants Him to go Down in His Pocket and Contribute $50,000.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Mr. Newberry, of Illinois, has introduced in the house a bill to test and try the science of spelling, and to provide for the establishment of 100 schools for that purpose, and to establish a spelling school in the world's fair.

The bill provides for the appropriation of $50,000, to be delivered to Charles A. Storey, of Chicago, for which he shall give bond that it shall be expended as the bill directs.

Mr. Storey is directed to rent and furnish a suitable room in Chicago for the accommodation of the teachers and scholars who are to use and practically apply the science of spelling.

The public is to be admitted to the school to see, hear and examine the science of spelling, with a view to its further and general introduction and practical use in primary and public schools of the United States.

The bill authorizes Mr. Storey to establish in New York city and Washington, D. C., schools of the same character as the one to be established at Chicago and appropriates $50,000 for each school.

An appropriation of $50,000 is also authorized to enable Mr. Storey to open and continue a spelling school at the world's fair during its existence.

RIVERS AND HARBORS.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The house committee have begun with the state of Maine and began the preparation of the river and harbor appropriation bill. The committee have began with the state of Maine and will consider the states by sections beginning with the New England section.

HE LOVED HIS CIGAR.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Jan. 16.—M. V. Harben was hanged here yesterday. When placed on the scaffold Harben was smoking a cigar. He was asked if he desired to say anything and replied: "No, gentlemen; I can only say I am innocent." The execution was well conducted.

QUEEN VICTORIA IS ILL.

She May Not Attend the Duke's Funeral.

Her Physicians Refused to Allow Her to Go to the Bedside of Her Dying Grandson.

London, Jan. 16.—A report is current that Queen Victoria is dangerously ill, and that she may not be able to attend the funeral of her grandson next Wednesday.

OHIO PENSIONS.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Pensions have been granted to the following residents of Ohio:

Original—William Bailey, Jacob W. Richards, Hiram W. Lucas, George Winter, Washington Poling, John W. Oldaker, Zebulon Burroughs, John Cantrell, William Croy, Chas. B. Snell, G. L. Original widows, etc.—Frances E. Porter, Sarah Lockard (mother), Margaret Brant.

MAN AND MONEY MISSING.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—James Macey, national treasurer of the Stonemasons' union, is missing, together with $1,100 of the money belonging to the organization. He came here from his home in Baltimore last Monday to attend the national meeting. He left the hotel at 5 o'clock in the morning and has not been seen since.

OBEYED THE LAW.

Tiffin, O., Jan. 16.—(Special)—The Baltimore & Ohio and the Pennsylvania railway companies have complied with the notification of Railroad Commissioner Norton to station a flagman at the Lafayette street crossing in this city, the dangerous location where two men were killed by the cars last November.

Billy Began, who for 16 years has been employed as a section hand on the Baltimore & Ohio, began his duties to-day.

HIGH WATER.

Easton, Pa., Jan. 16.—The Delaware river, after carrying down considerable ice late yesterday, began rising, and this morning had reached a depth of 19 feet above low water mark. Yards are flooded, and mills are unable to use water power. The Lehigh river is so high that no mills along its banks can run.

THE CUSHING.

Newport, R. I., Jan. 16.—Commander Winslow, of the Torpedo boat Cushing, has received orders to proceed to the Brooklyn navy yard. The detailed officers have not yet reported to the vessel. Great activity is displayed at the torpedo station.

FR. FLEMING DEAD.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 16.—Rev. Wm. M. Fleming, pastor of St. Aloysius Roman Catholic church, and one of the most prominent priests in this district, died suddenly this morning at his house.

THE POPE MAY GO NEXT.

London, Jan. 16.—A dispatch from Rome says the coincidence of teh deaths of Cardinals Simeoni and Manning so affected the pope that he exclaimed: "I feel that my hour is also approaching."

ANTI-CIGARETTE TRUST.

St. Louis, Jan. 16.—The owners of the Drummond Tobacco company are endeavoring to organize an anti-cigarette trust against the American Tobacco.

ASSIGNED.

Philadelphia, Jan. 16.—Thomas W Allison & Bro., conveyancers of Manayunk, a suburb of this city, assigned to-day. Liabilities between $40,000 and $75,000.

WHO KILLED HER?

Is Dr. Graves Innocent of the Crime?

The Mystery of the Case Deepens Every Day.

Detective Woods Claims to Have Affidavits in His Grip Which Will Clear the Doctor From an Awful Charge.

San Francisco, Jan. 16.—Detective Joseph Wood, of Denver, left for the east with a batch of sensational affidavits, which, he declares, show clearly that an attempt was made to poison Mrs. Barnaby in San Francisco by parties who could have no connection with Dr. Graves.

Wood claims he is sent out here by some of Graves' friends, and Dr. Graves does not know that this effort is being made for him. Wood pointed to a satchel lying by his feet and said:

"That contains affidavits which show who is the real murderer of Mrs. Barnaby."

One affidavit is made by a servant at Arrowhead, Hot Springs, who heard Mrs. Barnaby's nurse, Mrs. Worrell, declare several times that she wished her mistress would die.

Mrs. Worrell said the only reason she remained with Mrs. Barnaby was that she expected to be remembered in her will. Wood insinuates that this nurse knows who ended Mrs. Barnaby's life. He also claims to have an affidavit showing that arsenic was bought for Mrs. Barnaby, ostensibly to kill rats. Wood has 30 affidavits in all.

MUSIC IN THE AIR.

Foraker Men Were Turned Down.

They Will Carry the War Into the State Convention and Make the Contest Bitter.

Columbus, Jan. 16.—(Special)—Neither branch of the legislature being in session to-day what few of the politicians are left in the city are discussing the appointments made by Adjutant-General Pocock.

Before the appointments were made Sherman, McKinley and Pocock had their heads together for a long time, and the fact that no Foraker men appear in the list is taken as conclusive evidence that the state administration as well as the national has no use for the man of Cincinnati.

Among the applicants were several well-known politicians who held positions under Foraker, but they were all knocked out and not a single one of the ex-governor's friends is to be found in the list.

The dissatisfaction is general and outspoken and the governor is being denounced bitterly by certain of the gentlemen.

One case deserves special mention. E. H. Archer, of Noble county, was a valuable assistant in the state committee rooms and was promised the position of assistant adjutant general.

When dropped out of his place he was given assurance that he would be made chief clerk, but he was again moved down, going below the position of transcribing clerk and going into the roster department at a salary of $1,000.

Ben Priest, one of the best engineers ever in charge of the capital heating apparatus, was turned down simply because he is a Foraker man.

In short, the ex-governor's friends are beautifully rubbed in the dust.

But the Foraker men smile significantly as they reach for the razor in their boots, and then inquire what time the state convention will be held to elect delegates to Minneapolis.

Every indication points to the fact that the Foraker forces will make a bitter fight to send Foraker, Bushnell, Conger and Griffin to the convention, while the Sherman men have slated Sherman, McKinley, Hanna and Grosvenor for the honors.

The battle will be fierce and is already on.

The Bee will keep its readers posted as to details.

THE DEAD DUKE.

His Funeral Will Take Place Next Wednesday.

London, Jan. 16.—According to the program as at present decided upon the funeral of the duke of Clarence and Avondale, the late heir presumptive to the throne of England, who died on Thursday morning at Sandringham, will take place on Wednesday next.

Much trouble is experienced in arranging for the funeral, as the queen and the Prince of Wales are in conflict on matters of detail.

SPANISH WOOL GROWERS.

Columbus, Jan. 16.—(Special)—The Spanish Wool Growers' association were in session yesterday and indorsed state wool growers' resolutions, after which the following officers were elected: President; Purton, Cass, Licking county; first vice president, A. J. Harter, Delaware; second vice-president, W. Bishop, Delaware; secretary, F. C. Stanley, Morrow county; treasurer, G. W. Gordon, Morrow county; board of directors, L. G. Ely of Fulton, M. H. Rhodes of Marion, J. D. Irwin of Allen, J. J. Deeds of Licking; committee on pedigree, J. W. Pollock of Greene, R. K. Willis of Delaware, P. P. Gurney of Licking.

CHESTER WHITE ASSOCIATION.

Columbus, Jan. 16.—The Todd Imported Chester White Record association elected the following officers: S. H. Todd, Wakeman, president; W. H. Pool, Delaware, vice president; C. W. Baker, Delaware, secretary and treasurer; trustees, F. A. Branch, Medina; J. A. Werst, Wapakoneta; L. H. Martin, Alexandria; P. T. Courtier, Delaware; W. H. Pool, Delaware; D. W. Shelenberger, Enon; Carl Friegan, Dayton; executive committee, P. T. Coulter, Delaware; W. H. Pool, Delaware; L. H. Martin Alexandria.

THE LOYAL VOLUNTEERS.

They Fought for Their Country in Time of Need,

And Will Now Battle Against Its Greatest Evil.

An Organization of Soldiers Who Believe That the Pension Rolls Should be Cut Down $100,000,000 a Year.

Washington, Jan. 16.—An attack is to be made in the present house upon the pension laws with the hope of reducing the annual expenditures in this direction from $138,000,000 to $38,000,000, or at most $50,000,000.

The movement will not be inaugurated by the members of congress, but will be the work of an organized body of loyal soldiers who believe that reform is necessary, and that millions are being expended annually for pensions to men who have no right to the money.

The cardinal principle of this organization is a competency to those permanently disabled, or unable to earn their living, and nothing to the men who can either by their hands or their brains support themselves and their families.

The organization which proposes this revolution in pension matters had its inception in Washington, where it has been working for some time, quietly but effectively.

It is known as the Society of Loyal Volunteers. The association believes in teaching and maintaining, among other things, these lessons:

"That the war was for the preservation of the Union and not for conquest or revenge.

"That the volunteer armies were inspired by no hope of individual gain or glory.

That many persons, as loyal and brave as those who entered the service, were prevented from doing so by circumstances that did not hinder their companions.

"That victories were gained by the loyalty, courage, endurance and loyal inspiration of the whole people.

"That armies were recruited from all classes and vocations.

"That the vast majority of the volunteers were men of good character, but some were bad, and that this class of men do not hesitate to live on the generous gratitude of the people through payments made on pensions obtained by fraud or at the expense of honor.

"That men who had the intelligence, courage and persistent energy to win battles by virtue of these same qualities of character are able to compete successfully for the rewards of civil life with those who did not enter the service.

"That many who sustained severe wounds and almost all who retained their health suffered no impairment of their ability to care for the support of themselves and their families."

NORWALK REPUBLICANS.

Norwalk, O., Jan. 16.—(Special)—The Young Men's Republican club last night elected the following officers: President, G. R. Craig; Secretary and Treasurer, Fred. W. Christian. Delegates to the state league convention: C. H. Galley, C. H. Stewart, T. D. Shepherd, P. H. Mahan and Leroy Hoyt.

CARDINAL MANNING'S FUNERAL.

London, Jan. 16.—It has been finally decided that the funeral of Cardinal Manning shall be held at the Brompton Oratory on Thursday next. The services will begin at 11 o'clock.

TO SUCCEED TAFT.

Washington, Jan. 16.—It is stated at the department of justice that Hon. Charles Aldrich, of Chicago, has been selected to succeed Mr. Taft as solicitor general.

EGYPT'S NEW RULER.

Prince Abbas Arrives at Alexandria.

The Young Khedive Received With Great Honor and Awed by the Thunder of British Guns.

Alexandria, Jan. 16.—Prince Abbas, the new khedive of Egypt, arrived off this port shortly before midnight. At 8 o'clock this morning the vessel having the young khedive on board steamed into the harbor, escorted by several British warships, and amid the thundering of guns from the forts and from the British and Egyptian ships there assembled.

Prince Hussein, accompanied by the British minister, Sir Evelyn Baring, by the diplomatic corps and by a brilliant staff of British and Egyptian officers, then boarded the vessel and welcomed the khedive back to Egypt.

Prince Abbas received the expressions of sympathy and of congratulations of the Egyptian and foreign officials with commendable ease and modesty, and landed for the first time as the khedive of Egypt upon his native soil at 8:30.

John Gallaher received a telegram this morning that William Morgan, of Toledo, formerly of this city, had passed away. The deceased is the son of Mrs. Morgan, of McGuffey street, and was well and favorably known here. He was employed in the rolling mill at Toledo. The news of his death will be the cause of great sorrow among the many who knew him.—Youngstown Vindicator.

JINGO BEN TO-DAY.

Blaine Has Been Placed on the Shelf.

Harrison Puts on the War Paint,

And Proposes to Get Some of the Glory.

The Secretary of State is for Peace.

He is Charged With Doubling Up With the Foreign Powers to Prevent the Depreciation of English Securities in Chile.

Washington, Jan. 16.—(Special)—It is almost certain that there will be a war with Chile, unless that government comes to time quickly.

At the navy department all is activity.

Preparations are going on all the time at the Washington navy yard, and at the principal gun foundry of the government forces will be worked 24 hours from to-morrow.

Double guards have been stationed and no one is admitted except upon passes. This precaution was necessary because of prowling Chileans who have been visiting all the foundries doing government work.

Vesuvius, the torpedo boat, will be put in commission in a few days, and the Miantonomoh has been ordered to prepare for the sea.

Despite the jingo reputation of Blaine, he is working with the British ambassador, Pauncefote, and the Chilean minister, Montt, for peace.

War would decrease, if not ruin English securities and property in Chile, and hence peace is desired.

Secretary Tracy, on the other hand, wants war. If war was declared Secretary Tracy would be the man of the hour, while Secretary Blaine would take a back seat.

All available vessels of the merchant marine have been ordered to be in readiness, and altogether it looks ominous.

Naval officials say that should war be declared it will be a lasting one. They estimate its duration at five years.

MOST FRIGHTFUL DEATH.

A Workman Cremated at Ironwood, Mich.,

And His Friends Powerless to Help Him.

He Slipped, Fell Into the Fuel Chute and Was Carried Head Forward Into a Roaring Furnace.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 16.—C. G. Baker, employed in McClossen's mills here, met with a frightful death yesterday afternoon.

He was engaged in throwing refuse upon a runway which carries the fuel into the furnace, when he accidentally slipped and fell. His foot caught in one of the cleats of the runway, and before the machinery could be stopped and the man extricated he was carried head foremost into the raging furnace.

All attempts to check the flames were in vain, and before the fires were finally extinguished the man's body was completely cremated.

He was a young man and leaves a wife and two children.

THE ATTACHMENT HOLDS.

Creditors of the Sienna Paint Company Get Action.

One of the Stock-Holders Held to be a Non-Resident, and His Real Estate Will Help Liquidate the Debt.

Some time ago the creditors of the Toledo Sienna and Mineral Paint company entered proceedings in common pleas court, through Attorney I. N. Huntsberger, to enforce the statutory liability of the stockholders. Arthur A. Omo, one of the heaviest stockholders, moved to Chicago in November. The plaintiffs in the suit then attached real estate owned by Omo in Toledo, on the ground that Omo was a non-resident. Omo in return entered suit to have the attachment released, claiming that he is a resident of Toledo.

The case was argued before Judge Pugsley at the law library yesterday afternoon.

At the conclusion the court ruled that Omo is a non-resident and the attachment shall be held in force.

FATHER BURNS' LECTURE.

Cardinal Manning the Foremost Man of His Time.

Rev. Father Burns will deliver a lecture at St. Francis de Sales church, to-morrow evening, upon this subject. Both as an Englishman, and from a personal acquaintance extending over twenty years, Father Burns is well qualified to give a most interesting lecture upon the great cardinal, and no doubt admirers of Manning, irrespective of creed, will be glad to take advantage of this opportunity.

BUSINESS ON THE LAKES

The Coming Season, Says G. G. Hadley, Will Be Good.

Plenty of Coal Will Go to the Northwest—The Ore Trade Will Be Lively—What Toledo Should Do.

Speaking of the prospects of the lake business for the season of '92 and of matters pertaining to Toledo in this connection Mr. G. G. Hadley spoke as follows to a Bee this morning:

"It is generally agreed among vessel men that the outlook for the coming year could not be better. In fact, it has been some years since the prospects for a successful season have been so promising.

"There are numerous existing conditions that point to the above result. For instance, in the northwest it has been, and promises to continue, extremely cold. For the past week in that region the thermometer has been shivering down in the bottom of the tube, 40 degrees below zero. This will have the effect of using up all the coal in that vicinity. It is probable that at the opening of the season there will not be a pound of coal on the Lake Superior or Lake Michigan docks. This state of affairs will insure a very large traffic in coal.

"Coal rates will, in all probability, rule higher than last year. The Pittsburg mills have on hand unusually large orders for steel rails, etc., and will consume a large quantity of ore. The ore now on the docks will have been entirely cleaned out when the season opens. I understand that Carnegie & Co. have already purchased 1,000,000 tons of ore for this season's delivery.

"The ore business will keep the vessels pretty busy and maintain rates good and stiff all season. We have been offered 5 1-2 cents on the first trip out of Chicago and 4 1-2 cents for the first two trips out of Duluth. This latter means $1.67 on ore. I am informed that we can get $1.35 on ore now, for the entire season of '92, from Lake Superior. There are numerous other indications that point to a busy and prosperous season.

"If Toledo would profit by the lively traffic of the year to come it should be up and doing. The matter of harbor dredging should be pushed vigorously or owners of large vessels will think twice before making this port. The prospects of sticking in the mud, losing valuable time, and money will make them fight shy of Toledo if matters are not bettered. Then, too, last season lots of money was lost to the vessel owners, by the incapacity of the docks and lack of proper machinery to handle the business. This latter difficulty will in all probability be remedied. The railroads are placing large orders for cars and the movement of coal and ore will be greatly facilitated.

"Regarding our vessels: On the Massasoit we have expended several thousand dollars. The decayed timbers have been removed, new decks put in and the vessel strengthened throughout. The Panther is also being put in good shape. The Hadley has already been repaired and is to-day in better condition than when we purchased her. We expect to do our share of the business and smile with the rest of the vessel owners."

AMERICAN GENERALS IN MEXICO

There are almost enough American generals settled in Mexico to make a colony by themselves. One of the most distinguished of them is Gen. H. M. Greenwood, of Louisiana, who commanded a confederate cavalry division. He was one of the numerous confederate soldiers who, after the peace of the Appomattox, crossed the Rio Grande with Gen. Joe Shelby and sought service under Maximilian. His lines have been cast in pleasant places since, for he is rich in coffee and cotton lands.—New York World.

SMALLEST AND MEANEST.

The bacillus of influenza, said to have been discovered by Dr. Pfeiffer, the son-in-law of Dr. Koch, is the smallest bacillus yet discovered. It need not be said that it is also the meanest. Perhaps it is the very minuteness of the beast that enables it to be so all-pervasive.—New York Sun.

The dolphin is said to be the fastest swimmer in the seas. It has been observed to dart through the water at a rate computed to be much greater than 20 miles an hour, and is often seen swimming round and round a vessel which is sailing at highest speed.

Fixed just right—Liver, Stomach, and Bowels, by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They do it in just the right way, too—by using Nature's own methods. That's why they're better than the dreadful, old-fashioned pills, with their griping and violence.

But they're better in every way. In size, for instance, and dose. They're the smallest and the easiest to take; only one little Pellet is needed for a laxative—three for a cathartic. They cleanse and regulate the system thoroughly—but it's done easily and naturally. Sick and Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured.

They're the cheapest pill you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for value received.

Something else, that pays the dealer better, may be offered as "just as good." Perhaps it is, for him, but it can't be, for you.

SOME SPICY CURRENT TOPICS

Of Local and Neighborhood Interest.

Notes and Comments on Incidents Occurring Daily—Prepared for Readers Who are Hustled for Time.

THE ANN ARBOR NOT IN IT.

General Manager Ashley, of the Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan railroad, says that that road is not going into the hands of the C., H. V. & T. company. The rumor started by the Columbus papers, he says, was without foundation.

GOING TO COLUMBUS.

Infirmary Directors Reynolds and Baumbach and Superintendents Kirkby and Wilcox will go to Columbus Monday to meet the state board of charities on business pertaining to the infirmary department of this county. They will also take an imbecile boy to the asylum.

JURY DISAGREED.

Margaret Kruse, who keeps a saloon on lower Summit street, has been on trial in police court for keeping a house of illfame. The case was given to the jury at 6 o'clock last evening and they were out all night, and about 11 this morning decided to disagree, and were discharged.

WILL LEAVE TOLEDO.

Jos. Shrimpton, chief joint inspector for all railroads centering in this city for the past five years, has tendered his resignation, to accept the position of general car foreman of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad, with headquarters at Danville, Ill., to take effect February 1. He is an able railroad man, and his Toledo friends wish him the success with which he will undoubtedly meet in his new position.

THE TOLEDO LOAN COMPANY.

The statement on another page of the Toledo Loan company's business for the past six months is of interest. This is the oldest and pioneer company among the building and loan associations of the city, and the statement shows that it is still second to none. The shares held in the company now number 1,413, a net gain of 185 since the last report, and the semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent. is again declared to shareholders.

DANCING AND CARD PARTY.

The Toledo Railroad Clerks' association have made arrangements to entertain their friends at a complimentary dancing and card party, to be held at Damon hall Tuesday evening. The committee on arrangements are H. Ruppel, J. C. Mullen, R. M. Conlisk, W. A. Kreiter and J. E. Connell. The party promises to be a grand affair, as the clerks have restricted parties to whom they have given invitations.

ARRESTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT.

Charles Hope, who says that his home is in Monroe, Mich., was taken in by Detective Kruse yesterday afternoon on a charge of embezzlement. The charge is preferred against him by W. G. Goulet, who alleges that in December Hope was driving a team for him and after collecting $17, failed to return the same, but went on a spree.

He will be tried on Monday in police court.

SOME NEW FEATURES.

F. F. Gross, of Chicago, has been secured as manager of the Toledo cyclorama, and the big war picture, the battle of Gettysburg, was formally opened for the winter season last evening. Mr. Gross delivered an interesting lecture, and those who attended spent an evening in an instructive manner. In addition to the usual proceedings there was martial music, cannonading, a realistic illusion of night and a storm on the battlefield, and other new features, making a very pleasing entertainment.

SALOON KEEPER SUICIDES.

Louis Harms, a saloon keeper at 630 Western avenue, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by hanging himself in his shed. To do this he tied a short rope to a nail in the wall not as high as his head and deliberately drew his feet up and strangled to death.

The coroner was called, and after viewing the body rendered a verdict that the deed was committed during a fit of temporary insanity. Harms was 57 years old and leaves a wife and four children.

CAN SPEED ON MADISON STREET.

About a week ago Mayor Emmick set apart Franklin avenue from Bancroft street to Cherry for the horsemen to speed their horses on. The fine sleighing of the past week has brought out all the owners of flyers and some great sport has resulted. Franklin avenue, however, has been in bad condition and not fit for fast driving. To-day the mayor decided that they could also speed the horses on Madison street from Thirteenth street out and some lively driving is going on there this afternoon.

DEATH OF CALVIN BRONSON.

At 7 o'clock last evening occurred the death of Calvin Bronson, at his residence, 709 Madison street. Mr. Bronson was in his 86th year and has been an active business man up to the time of his illness. About three weeks ago he had a partial stroke of paralysis, and this with rheumatism, resulted in his death. He has made Toledo his home for more than 40 years, during which time he has been constantly connected with the business world. The funeral will take place from his late residence, Monday afternoon at two o'clock.

AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Rev. D. W. P. Bliss, pastor of the Church of the Carpenter in Boston, Mass., is to deliver an address on "The Church and Socialism" before the young men Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Association hall, corner Summit and Orange streets. All the young men are invited to hear him, and it will be well worth your time. A male quartet will sing at the service.

The boys' meeting at 3 o'clock is to be addressed by Rev. S. D. Hutsinpiller on the subject, "A First-rate Boy and Two Other Boys."

ADAMS ST. MISSION CHRISTMAS.

The middle of next week occurs the Christmas time giving for the Sabbath school children of this mission charity work so long and favorably known in Toledo. Their needs are about the needs of an average child, viz.: toys, dolls, candies, picture books, sleds, shoes, clothing, or the money to aid in purchase of same. Let them not be neglected, and kindly send your donations to the Mission rooms opposite the court house not later than Tuesday next. In every house are thrown aside playthings, and if you do not feel like buying new articles, get together the ones your children have used and become tired of.

CIRCUIT COURT DECISIONS.

The circuit court handed down opinions in the following cases this morning:

John Seck against Frank Heyser, judgment for the defendant, petition dismissed.

Ernst Herman v. Julius Meyer and Josephine Meyer, petition in appeal dismissed.

King Ford v. the state of Ohio, judgment of the lower court reversed, verdict set aside, and new trial granted. It was held that the common pleas court erred in instructing the jury during the trial that it might determine the prisoner's age without other evidence, whether he be above the age of 18 years at the time the alleged crime was committed.

THE PARAGON ON THE BUILD.

The Ottawa County Exponent, published at Oak Harbor, has the following item this week in regard to an oil pipe line to Toledo:

A representative of the Paragon Oil company, of Toledo, was here Tuesday conferring with the county commissioners to secure the right-of-way for an oil and gas pipe line from the Gibsonburg field to Toledo. Permission being granted they will construct it along the W. & L. E. railway from Toledo to within a mile of the west line of Benton township, which line they will follow south, passing two miles east of Genoa, and one mile west of Elmore, crossing the river near G. W. Boggs' place. This will give Woodville, Elmore, Genoa, Williston and Curtice a chance to oil and gas up.

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!! CLOAKS!!!

DON'T MISS THE BANKRUPT SALE!

THE FUN LASTS UNTIL JAN. 30.

Owing to the backward season we have about one-half of our large consignment of Cloaks left. We did not sell as many garments as we should have, before the holidays, and of course must sell them now But how? Not by selling an $18 garment for $15; not by selling a $12.50 garment for $10. This would not have the desired effect; we might sell a few goods at those prices; that is not what we want; they must all go. Now see how we will do it. Read these prices:

Ladies' Plush Cloaks, former price	$ 35.00	now $ 15.00
Ladies' Plush Cloaks, former price	30.00	now 12.50
Ladies' Plush Cloaks, former price	25.00	now 9.00

Ladies' Fur-Trimmed Reefers in tan and gray, were $20, now $9.
Misses' Jackets, never sold less than $7, go for $3.
Misses' Newmarkets, well worth $5, going in this sale for 1.50.
Children's Cloaks in endless variety at proportionately low prices.

You want these goods. We don't. We must straighten our account with the court, and have until January 30 to do it. Now don't delay. This is the chance of a life-time. Sale closes January 30. Positively continues no longer.

CURRENT TOPICS.

There seems truly to be no limit to the possibilities growing out of the adaptation of electrical power. The fact that a vast amount of freight is still transported by means of canal boats, and that these boats are drawn by horses or mules as in the days of Rameses or Tiglathpileser, lends especial interest to a recent invention of a German engineer. A stationary cable laid at the bottom of the canal and is grasped by a set of sheaves on the deck of the boat, actuated by an electric motor. The current is applied to the latter by means of trolley wires strung along the bank, the trolley making contact on the upper side of the wires and being towed along by flexible conductors. A peculiar feature of this arrangement is that the whole installation is portable, and is readily fixed to the gunwales of the boats as they enter the canal, and removed at the other end.

Brazil stands next to the United States in the number of immigrants received during the past year. Notwithstanding her disturbed condition, her immigration will run up to 200,000, mostly from Italy, Portugal and Spain. The new government holds out greater inducements even than were offered under the empire. It pays part of the passage money, gives land on easy terms, guarantees employment and relieves from military service for a number of years, and it endeavors to keep its promises.

The preparation used to produce what we call "vaccination," is known among medical men as vaccine virus, to produce which it is necessary to go through a surgical operation, the subject being a young cow or even a calf. After scarifying the belly of the animal (the parts having previously been shaved) the wound is inoculated with virus from an animal already in use.

Prof. Skeat, of Cambridge University, protests against the assumption that Latin and Greek pronounced in the present day as they were in the days of Queen Elizabeth. He says, however, that if scholars in the Elizabethan era pronounced Latin and Greek as they did English their pronounciation was fairly good, for the reason that a considerable number of English sounds did not then differ materially from the Continental sounds. He says, however, the notion that the word Regina could at that early day, have been pronounced as in modern English is extraordinary, for the modern English "i," as in "mine," was not at that time invented. For the most part, however, the scholars of Elizabeth's day never heard the pronunciation of Latin now employed.

One of the greatest needs of the age is the education of the rising generation for useful employment. On the one hand we have a vast army of people dependent for their subsistence upon the employment provided by others, and yet receiving poor pay for their labor when they get employment at all. On the other side is an army of employers who are willing to pay good wages for skillful work, but who find it difficult to obtain the competent, conscientious help they need. Those who thoroughly understand a vocation, and give an honest day's work for an honest day's pay, are the ones who keep their positions, and it is the inefficient and the shirks, and those who slight their work, who are dismissed as soon as their services can be dispensed with.

The health officer of the port of New York holds one of the best offices in the gift of the government. For a time the office was paid by fees, and its occupant is supposed to have realized something like $75,000 a year out of it. Some time ago the fee system was abolished and the officer was given a salary of $10,000, together with numerous privileges of a more or less valuable character. The term is for three years, but for the past twelve years the health officer, who is one of Mr. Platt's lieutenants, has held over, the republicans of the senate having persistently refused to confirm any of the numerous nominations made for this office by the governor, notwithstanding that they were gentlemen of the highest professional standing. A change is coming now, says the Boston Herald, and it is the general opinion that it is coming none too soon.

The New York Tribune quotes a Kansas man on one result of prohibition in his state, as follows: "The fact that many people in prohibition states are using antipyrine as a substitute for alcohol shows how hard it is to make people sober by act of legislature. Kansas druggists sell an immense quantity of quinine, as well as bottles of bitters and tonics by the thousand, and prohibition seems only to succeed in compelling people to change their favorite drinks. It is difficult to imagine anyone eating quinine or drinking it in solution for enjoyment or from taste, but the habit is a very common one in every large city, and now antipyrine is being taken to in the same way. No one can take large doses of quinine with impunity very often, and any one who indulges in the antipyrine habit is laying up for himself a stock of suffering and debility which will make life a burden to him."

The League of American Wheelmen, says the Indianapolis News, has announced its intention of actively engaging in the work of securing better road laws. While those who ride the wheel are vitally interested in road improvements, they are of equal importance to all who use wheeled vehicles, and especially to those whose driving is done as a matter of business rather than of pleasure. The league calls upon everybody to assist in contributing to the funds necessary for the promotion of this work; the printing of pamphlets, the collecting and disseminating of practical knowledge in all parts of the country, the supplying of information to volunteer speakers, the compiling of the road laws of other countries and the framing of suitable bills to be brought before our state legislatures.

MANY MEN'S HISTORY.

Jones was a very busy man,
From morning until late
He worked, and grudged the moments that
He gave the meals he ate.

For years he labored on until
It seemed a sin to rest.
His family he never saw,
So hard his duties pressed.

He grew quite grey and bent and old,
But still he labored on,
Seeing naught else beside the work
He was engaged upon.

Until one day the Angel Death
Said: "Come, you're past your prime."
"Why, no," he murmured, "I can't die,
I really haven't time."

THE PRESS DELEGATES.

Those Who Will Come to Toledo.

Quite a Number of Celebrities—The Local Press Club Appoints a Committee—What the Newspaper People are Doing in the West.

There is no doubt about the enthusiastic welcome the International Press league delegates will receive at Toledo on their return from California. The Press club yesterday afternoon appointed the following committee to co-operate with the Produce Exchange and the Toledo club committees: Pres. Cochran, Elmer White, S. S. Knabenshue, H. Vortriede, and Wm. Beatty. F. A. Kumler will also act on the Toledo club committee. His name was unintentionally omitted when the list was published yesterday.

The following journalists are those who will come to Toledo:

Officers of the league—President, Thos. J. Keenan, jr., Pittsburg Press, Pittsburg, Pa., and sister; vice-president, Lynn R. Meekins, Baltimore American, Baltimore, Md., and wife; secretary and treasurer, Chas. W. Price, Electrical Review, New York; executive committee, Wm. R. Worrall, chairman, Mail and Express, New York; S. G. Lapham, Daily Courier, Syracuse, N. Y.; Thos. P. Anderson, The Globe, Boston, Mass.; Wm. Berri, Standard-Union, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Gen. I. R. Sherwood, The Democrat, Canton, O.

Delegates—New York: Wm. Berri, Brooklyn Standard-Union, and wife; Chas. W. Price, Electrical Review, and wife, W. R. Worrall, Mail and Express, and wife; Maj. T. P. McElrath, American Analyist, and wife; J. I. Charlouis, The School Journal, and wife; George P. Lyons, Law Journal, and wife; Thomas H. Evans, New York representative Chicago Tribune and San Francisco Chronicle, and wife, Alfred E. Pearsell, Commercial Advertiser, and Miss Mattison; E. B. Phelps, The Club, and Miss Kellog; Charles H. George, New York correspondent Baltimore American, and Miss Cottrell; Samuel C. Austin, Associated Press; Marshall P. Wilder, Sunday Advertiser, New York. Invited guests: Mr. W. Wilde and wife (Mrs. Frank Leslie), Leslie's publications; Miss Kate Field, editor of Kate Field's Washington; Dr. A. S. Hunter and wife, Medical Record; Mr. Foster Coats, managing editor Mail and Express, and Miss Elita Proctor Otis; Dr. John Frederich, Amerikanische Schweizer Zeitung; M. H. Brown, Electrical Review; G. H. Lowerre, Mail and Express; J. S. Page, secretary Union League club.

Boston Press club—J. B. Morse, Herald; William V. Alexander, Transcript, and Miss Parlon; J. S. Keeler, Herald; William C. Grout, Herald, and Miss Chamberlain; E. J. Carpenter, Advertiser; William B. Smart, Post.

Buffalo Press club—Byron R. Newton, Daily News; Eugene J. Fleury, Daily Express.

Cleveland Woman's Press club—Mrs. Elroy M. Avery, Cleveland, O.

Grand Rapids Press club—E. B. Fisher.

Canton Press club, Canton, Ohio—T. K. Albaugh and Mrs. Judge Albaugh, Canton Democrat.

Journalists' Club, Baltimore—John Stillman, American.

New England Woman's Press Association, Boston—Mrs. Lulu S. Upham, Gazette.

Pittsburg Press Club—George H. Welshons and wife, Times; William H. Davis, Commercial Gazette; L. D. Bancroft and lady, Dispatch; T. J. Keenan, and sister, Press; Miss Nellie Bly, Press-News representative.

Philadelphia Press Club—T. Henry Martin and wife, Item.

Reading Press Club—John P. Dampman and wife, Herald.

Syracuse Press Club—E. H. O'Hara, Herald.

Southern Rhode Island Press Club, Narragansett Pier, R. H.—Irving Watson, Herald, Narragansett Pier, and lady; H. R. True and lady, Westerly, R. I., Daily Tribune.

Yesterday at San Francisco the delegates were taken on a tug ride around the harbor and the dry docks and the war ships in process of construction were inspected. At yesterday's session of the league the constitution was amended increasing the number of vice-presidents from four to six. The matter of establishing a home for aged newspaper writers was brought up and was referred to the governing board. In the evening at the Powell street theater a large audience listened to the public proceedings.

Addresses were made by T. J. Keenan, Wm. B. Worrall, A. E. Pearson, Mrs. Upham, L. R. Mookins, Charu and Charles M. Shortridge and Foster Coates on the newspapers of to-morrow, mechanically, editorially and artistically considered.

Miss Kate Field's subject was, "Why I Founded a Review in Washington." B. J. Newton, Miss Ella Proctor Otis, Marshall P. Wilder and Mrs. Frank Leslie on personal recollections of journalism. W. Wilde on "Joys of Journalism by an Old Hand," and a paper by Gen. Felix Angus on "Journalism of the South."

Letters were read from George William Curtis, Max O'Reli, Col. John A. Cockrell, Chester Ford, Charles A. Dana, Joseph Howard, Jr., William Penn Nixon, John Russell Young, Wm. F. Shepherd, W. Howe and others.

After the meeting of the delegates were shown through Chinatown.

WANTED A MUSS.

A Man Who Wouldn't Pay His Rent Fined for Assault and Battery.

M. Barringer was tried this morning in police court on a charge of assault and battery. It seems that when Barringer's landlord came around for the rent Barringer kicked him out and otherwise assaulted him. He was found guilty and fined $20 and costs.

Barringer, however, did not seem to like this and before leaving the station got into more hot water. While sitting in the clerk's office waiting for his son to come with the money to pay his fine, he commenced making slurs on the judge and was sent below to the prison until his money came. Not satisfied with this, when he paid his fine, he abused several of the officers and was incontinently fired out.

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES.

Colloquial Club—Rev. Mr. Bliss and the T. S. E. I.—Notes.

An exceedingly interesting meeting was held by the Colloquial club yesterday afternoon at Law kindergarten. The paper, which was an able effort and an artistic composition, was entitled "Our American Mothers; the Duties They Owe Themselves and Others," and was given by Mrs. R. J. Godfrey. A lively discussion followed the reading of the paper, participated in by the following ladies: Mrs. Godfrey, Miss Law, Mrs. Ridenour, Mrs. Fray, Mrs. Bentley, Dr. Boice, Mrs. Sanburn, Mrs. Harmon, Mrs. Howe, Mrs. Murray, and Mrs. Bell. The next meeting will be held Friday afternoon, January 29, the paper to be given by Miss Olmstead; subject to be announced later.

Next Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock a talk will be given at the Law kindergarten, on "The Management of Children." Ladies interested in the subject are invited to attend this meeting. "The Threefold Nature of the Child" is the thought in connection with the proper management of the children.

For the dance to be given Friday evening, Jan. 29, at Clark's hall, the following committees were appointed at the meeting of Joan of Arc assembly last evening: Arrangements, Mrs. Kittie Jackson, Miss Katharine Calkins, Mrs. A. P. Stevens; reception, Misses Clara Speckhardt and Margaret Krause; tickets, Miss Mary Meyers; floor, Miss Alida Combes, Mrs. Kate Collins, Misses Josie Skehan and Bee Daily; cloak room, Mrs. Nora Mack.

On Monday evening, in Memorial Hall annex, Rev. W. D. P. Bliss will, under the auspices of the Toledo Society of Economic Inquiry, deliver an address upon "Work and Wages, a Study of Facts." Free to the public, and all will be welcomed.

The Ladies' union, Church of Our Father, will meet Friday afternoon, January 22, with Mrs. Judge Harmon, 332 Batavia street.

The Isabella circle meets next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, with Mrs. E. C. Shaw, 2038 Parkwood avenue. Paper by Miss Helen Nolen; subject, "The Northmen and Pre-Columbian Discoveries."

The Dante Circle had a very interesting meeting Thursday with Miss Lottie O'Brien, and having finished the Vita-Nuova, will begin the Divine Comedy at their next lesson, Thursday Jan. 28.

The Catholic club meets next Thursday evening, and the program, as usual, promises to be most attractive. Musical seciections will be given by Mrs. A. A. Smith, Miss Florence Goulden, and Messrs Phillip Uhl and Charles O'Brien. An original paper by Miss Mary Calkins will be given.

GAVE HIMSELF UP.

A Poor, Hungry Fugitive from Justice Drops Into the Station.

A man giving the name of Fred Roland wandered into the police station last night and with a most pitiful story gave himself up as a fugitive from justice. He said that some time ago he had committed a forgery in Indianapolis, for which he was wanted by the police. He had escaped and had been wandering over the country, but now is tired, heartsick and hungry, and is willing to go back to Indianapolis and stand the consequences of his misdeeds.

A BIG CRASH
In prices of suitings and overcoatings at John Dalber's. Everything must go. The season is late, and we will not carry anything over.

IN TRADING CIRCLES

Both at Our Home and Abroad.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles.

London wheat market, no cargoes offering. Quotations unchanged; corn tending down. Liverpool wheat market opens steady at decline of 1-2 pence. Corn one penny lower.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 290,336 bu. compared with 225,876 bu. on the same day last year.

New York Canal Boatmen to Meet.—The following call for a meeting of canal boatmen is being circulated in New York: "It is rumored that the United States supreme court will decide New York's grain elevator law unconstitutional. Our highest tribunal to aid railroad magnates is slaughtering the Erie canal. A meeting is called by the Canal and Harbor Protection union at Washington's old quarters, 101 Broad street, corner of Pearl, New York, Friday evening, January 15, 1892, at 8 o'clock.

"State elevators must be provided for to prevent old time extortion. The thought of renewing charging canal boats $40, for that which costs only $12, and charging ships $800, when $150 will pay for same service in any of our rival seaports, is appalling in the extreme. Besides providing for our state elevators our canals should be speedily improved, as recommended by ex-State Engineer Horatio Seymour, jr., and liberal appropriations made until the work is completed."—New York Commercial Bulletin.

Government Report of Exports.—We print herein the United States treasury department table of exports of breadstuffs for December and for six months in 1891 and 1890.

The export of wheat, and flour expressed in wheat, in December equaled 22,582,000 bus., compared with 9,514,207 bus. in December, 1890.

The export for six months (flour and wheat) equaled 124,887,952 bus., compared with 45,530,540 bus. in six months in 1890.

Of the exports in six months there was shipped from our Pacific ports 844,978 bbls. of flour, and 21,884,516 bus. of wheat, equal to 25,186,917 bus. of wheat, which deducted from the aggregate leaves 99,701,033 bus. as the movement from our Atlantic ports.

The exports of corn in December was 5,674,505 bus. Oats 2,771,302 bus. Rye 905,397 bus.

Value of Exports in December.—Breadstuffs $30,241,893; provisions, cattle, hogs and dairy products $12,112,010; cotton, $43,824,684; mineral oils, $3,877,840.

Receipts of wheat continue to decrease. At Minneapolis and Duluth to-day they are 128,743 bu, and in five other principal western points, 161,533 bu.

The receipts of grain this week at eight principal western points are: Wheat, 2,168,000 bu; corn, 3,001,000 bu; oats, 1,355,000 bu. Previous week: Wheat, 3,396,000 bu; corn, 3,321,000 bu; oats 1,497,000 bu. In the corresponding week in 1891: Wheat, 1,474,000 bu; corn, 1,080,000 bu; oats, 1,283,000 bu.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were: Wheat, 343,086 bu, and flour to an aggregate of 175,000 bu. The export of corn was 190,521 bu, and of oats, 9,986 bu.

The exports this week from the same ports were: Wheat, 1,771,000 bu; corn, 2,695,000 bu; oats, 195,000 bu. Previous week: Wheat, 1,687,000 bu; corn, 2,019,000 bu; oats, 565,000 bu.

The Markets To-day.

Yesterday was a day of misrepresentations. Some people use a harder term. It is a fair presumption that the statement that Russia would resume exportation of grain in April was a pure invention of the enemy. Cables from St. Petersburg deny its truth. Either the deficiencies in Russia and others of the old countries have been grossly overestimated—lied about—or the above is an invention.

Yesterday English closing markets were stated to be largely declined. The decline in Liverpool was only half pence, and in London, California wheat is quoted this morning unchanged. We note these closing cables every day, because it is supposed to be news, but we say to our readers that they are not reliable. The wheat markets to-day have experienced a fair reaction from the depression of yesterday, when May wheat sold at Chicago at 89 1-2, and to-day, about noon time at 71. The report of English markets to-day by no means confirm yesterday's reports. To-day Liverpool is reported as closing firm, with limited demand.

Corn has been quiet, but steady, and fairly maintained

In New York, Jan. wheat closed 1 34c, and May 1c higher, Jan. and May corn about steady. Jan oats steady.

Our Crop Outlook and Demand.

We are now at mid-winter, although, in reckoning upon the vicissitudes that may befall our wheat crop we ought to include March as the month of adverse accidents and trials. It does not require expensive investigations by townships and farms to be assured that since November 1, in all directions, the general condition of the crop has slowly improved. In a few vicinities some wheat has been hurt by breaking the roots in freezing, but it is of small figure in the aggregate. The condition of the crop in six large wheat growing states west averages 80.1 per cent., Missouri being 73, Kansas 75, and Michigan 92. This is a low average and there is little margin for adversity in the two months to succeed January. On such a basis as the present a March corresponding to several in the last ten years would certainly reduce the aggregate production to small dimensions. But let us hope for the best.

On the subject of future demand Beerbohm says: January 1 since August 1—five months—the shipments from all exporting countries are 188,000,000 bu, but the European countries will require 400,000,000 bu, leaving 212,000,000 to be obtained in the next seven months ending July 31. He says these figures are approximately correct and imply a constant drain on America's resources, which country has already exported from July 1 to December 31, 120,000,000 bu. As the growing winter wheat crop of the west averages in condition only about 80 per cent., or 15 per cent. below last year, American holders may at any time consider wheat worth holding at present prices.

The Washburn Bill.

Yesterday we made clear two facts. First that to decrease the buying number of dealers must inevitably decrease the value of wheat to the farmer, and second that under the enormous increase in our agricultural productions, and the immense movement for three months after harvest, the crops of the country could not be moved under a suppression of the trading in futures, without lowering the value. If we restrict the buying and selling of wheat for future delivery to a limited class, the sellers of wheat will always be at a disadvantage.

But we don't believe Mr. Washburn, or any other senator this side of heaven, where we hope all good senators will go, can formulate a bill that will prevent the trade. Thousands of agents for interior dealers would be selling wheat for them, claiming that they were invested by the bill with ownership of the wheat, and that their sale to John Jones would transfer that agency to him. What will Washburn do about it? The proof is upon Washburn, and the United States supreme court in the Counselman case shields the dealer from the liability of confession of his sins to the court and jury. We think we could write all day upon this topic, but must dry up for to-day by repeating that Washburn, et al., cannot effect their object of buying wheat in Minnesota and the Dakotas at their own price and free from the competitive buying of speculators.

In Chicago February wheat closed 3-4c and May 5-8c higher. January and May corn 1-8c up.

In Toledo there has been a more limited business in wheat trading to-day, but at an improvement in prices. The reaction is hardly equal to New York, but the sales average 5-8c to 7-8c better. On the call May wheat sold at 95 3-8c. After the call May sold at 95 5-8c to 95 1-2c and closed at 95 7-8c, a gain of 7-8c.

Cash wheat was in little more request. No. 2 soft sold at 90 3-4c and closed at 91c, a gain of 1c. Nothing in other grades.

Corn—No. 2 for January at 41 1-2c. May at 42 3-8c. No. 3, 39 1-2c. No. 4 at 38 1-2c. No. 3 white at 40c. Oats—No. 2 white 33c. Rye—No. 2 at 88c. Dressed hogs at $4 75 to $5 00.

Clover Seed was unchanged in price with only quite moderate trading; prime for cash at $5 55. No. 2 at $5 17 1-2 to $5 35.

DEATH OF V. HAMILTON.

One of the Oldest Grain Merchants in the City.

For some weeks Mr. Vincent Hamilton has been confined to his home on Huron street, suffering from cystilis. Shortly after noon death came to relieve him of his pain.

The deceased has for many years been connected with the grain and commission business in Toledo, being a member of the old board of trade and later of the Produce exchange. At one time he had amassed considerable wealth, but in the panic of 1873 met with reverses, and was unable to again regain it.

Mr. Hamilton represented the Third ward in the council for two terms. His character was without blemish, and as a citizen he was always ready to lend his aid for any movement in the interest of Toledo. He was a member of St. Paul's M. E. church. A wife and several children are left to mourn his loss.

On learning of his death, the following testimonial was adopted by the members of the Produce Exchange:

This exchange has this moment learned of the death of another of its members, Mr. Vincent Hamilton. It is the loss of an old and highly esteemed member of our association, and a citizen of wide acquaintance and high standing.

On Monday we propose to enter on our minutes a more worthy tribute to his worth than this limited notice.

On motion it was resolved that our hall be draped in memory of our deceased friend, that we attend the funeral in a body, and that we do now adjourn.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

Meeting Between Two Veterans in East Toledo.

This morning there appeared in East Toledo as magnificent a type of manhood as is to be found in America. The gentleman had the look of a man unacquainted with his surroundings, as of one looking for something that was lost. Casually drifting into the store of Mr. Louis Metzger, his glance rested a moment upon the countenance of an old soldier of the famous old Twenty-first O. V. I. (Comrade Mike Burgomaster). Approaching him the stranger said, "I know your eyes, but durn me if I know your other name." It proved that they were members, during the war, of Company I, Twenty-first regiment, O. V. I. After a few minutes of the fellowship of soldiers, the stranger said, "My name is John E. McCarty, I live in Marion county, Kas., and have come here to see my old captain, I. K. Seaman. I have made three pilgrimages to Toledo since the war, but have never met an old regimental comrade. Can you direct me to my old captain?"

Just at this juncture Capt. Seaman entered the business place of Mr. Metzger, and the greeting of the old soldier and his captain was likened to the meeting of the prodigal son and his father. "They fell upon each other's necks and wept."

John McCarty went into the war a stripling; to-day he stands six feet, three inches in his stocking feet and weighs 235 pounds, the result, as he claims, of living on army rations since the war—i. e. hard tack and sour pork. After an enjoyable visit with Capt. "Kent" Seaman and the few comrades still left in Toledo, Mr. McCarty will leave to-night for his western home. A peculiar feature of all these meetings of men who were comrades in arms in perilous times, is the anticipation that they may never again meet unless it be at the encampment to be held in the city of Washington this year; and, to this end every old soldier, who was in the "Grand Review" of 1865, will exert himself to be present at the grand encampment of 1892.

NEW HOSPITAL SURGEON.

Dr. Fisher Resigns and His Son Appointed as His Successor.

Dr. A. W. Fisher, assistant marine hospital surgeon at this point some time ago, forwarded his resignation to Washington, which has been accepted. Dr. Fisher's son, Dr. W. H. Fisher, has been appointed to succeed his father. The change will be made at once.

The appointee is a young practitioner of promise, and will make an efficient official.

HARD MEDICINES.

Jewels as Sure Cure for Various Diseases—Costly Remedies and Preventives.

Although popularly supposed to be itself a deadly poison, the diamond has from remote ages been credited with the power of protecting the wearer from the evil effects of other poisons, a reputation which it retained until comparatively recent times. According to Pliny it also keeps off insanity. Amber, too, was supposed to possess the latter virtue. Besides the diamond several other stones were supposed to possess medicinal virtues.

The ruby was considered good for derangement of the liver as well as for bad eyes.

The sapphire and emerald were also credited with properties which rendered them capable of influencing ophthalmic disorders, and there is a superstitious belief that serpents are blinded by looking at the latter stone.

The turquoise, although not credited with either remedial or protective properties, so far as disease was concerned, was nevertheless regarded as a kind of sympathetic indicator, the intensity of its color being supposed to fluctuate with the health of the wearer. The latter, moreover, by virtue of the stone he carried, could, it was said, fall from a height with impunity. The Marquis of Vilena's fool, however, was somewhat nearer the truth when he reversed the popular superstition in his assertion that the wearer of a turquoise might fall from the top of a high tower and be dashed to pieces without breaking the stone.

The opal was looked upon as a thunder stone, and although many women now appear to have strong superstitious prejudice against wearing one, it was in bygone days held in the highest estimation, for it was supposed to combine the virtues of several other gems.

On the other hand the onyx—so named on account of its resemblance to the color of the finger nails—could scarcely have been a nice stone to wear; for, according to medieval superstition, it rendered one particularly susceptible to annoyance from nightmares and demons.

Temperance advocates, if they have any regard for the belief of the Greeks and Romans, might seriously consider the advisability of distributing amethysts among drunkards, for it was supposed that these stones prevented intoxication.

Coral was made use of by the Romans as a protection against the evil eye, and popular superstition had credited the topaz with the power of depriving boiling water of its heat.

Perhaps the most wonderful properties, however, were ascribed to the chimerical stones which many creatures were supposed to carry in their heads. Most of our readers have no doubt heard of the precious jewel which the toad carries in his brain box, and so-called toad-stones, which were in reality the teeth of fossil fish, were formerly worn in finger rings as a protection against poisons.

It was thought that the best stones were those voluntarily ejected by the living toads; but as the latter were not addicted to freely giving up their treasures in that way it was necessary to procure the coveted articles by other means, and the recognized method was to decapitate the hapless batrachian at the instant he swallowed his breath. The feat naturally demanded considerable celerity, such as could only be acquired by constant practice; and it was not reasonable, therefore, to assume that, although the endeavors to gain possession of the jewels were perhaps numerous, they must invariably have been unsatisfactory, especially to the toads.

The eagle stone was considered an excellent thing to wear during pregnancy, and the swallow carried in its stomach stones of great medicinal value.

The bram of the tortoise was supposed to contain a wonderful stone, which was efficacious in extinguishing fire, and when placed under the tongue would produce prophetic inspiration. Another stone possessing the latter property was found to be in the eye of the hyena.

The head of a cat, however, was thought to contain what would undoubtedly have been the most wonderful and most desirable treasure of all, could it only have had a real instead of an imaginary existence, for that man who was so fortunate as to possess this precious stone would have all his wishes granted.—Queries Journal.

Sarcasm from Reed and ridicule from Hiscock may be very entertaining, but it's not what the people are paying for just now.

In spite of the solemn assertions that there is no politics in it, the newspapers go on saying that the election of Chauncy Depew president of the Union League is a victory for the Blaine men.

The remark of Mrs. Flowers, wife of New York's governor, that she could find fine enough things in America to refurnish the executive mansion in Albany, was a home thrust to the ladies in governmental official circles in Washington, who revel in imported damasks, carpets, china and costumes.

The Indian question resolves itself into this: If a fraction of the promises made the Indians be fulfilled, an outbreak may be avoided. Promised money, overdue, and blankets and coats—in prospect—are rousing the leaders of the ghost dance. Dispatches from the west say the Pine Ridge Indians are suffering from cold and hunger. The same old story.

Congressman Newberry, of Illinois, wants a 50,000-dollars appropriation for a spelling school at the world's fair. He would have one hundred schools organized at once to study the science of spelling and be ready for the appointed time. What is the matter with the science of spelling as taught in our public schools? Put this scheme down on the list with the Carnegie tower and file it away.

Perhaps to ridicule retrenchment in government expenses is the best the remnant of the billion-dollar congress can do. It will be edifying to taxpayers to know that clerks of committees, who perform no labor and make no reports, being retained for ornament only, are drawing salaries regularly, to the extent of a good many thousands of dollars. It is very "cheese-paring" in the democracy to make note of these small things, but the taxpayers of the country who indulge, perforce in cheese-paring in their homes and families to support these unemployed employes, may appreciate the effort.

Criticisms of the design of the new silver coins are being noted every day. Not only is the eagle a limp, crippled, nondescript looking bird, that seems irresolute as to whether it will spread its wings or collapse, but the designer has given Mistress Liberty the bust of fashion rather than of nature, and the employes at the mint are complaining that they can't stack the coins as they could the old ones, on account of the bulge. The common people with no pile to stack, and who care not a fig about the bird's claws or tail feathers, will not grumble if they can only get a small share for their pockets. They'll stand the bulge.

The miners' federation, in convention at Stoke-on-Trent, represents a membership of 200,000 voters. When the motion was made, yesterday, to adopt a resolution of condolence for the royal family, it was received in silence, and, instead, sympathy and substantial aid were voted the starving nail-makers and their families in the Midland district. The cable dispatch says all the trades unions of Great Britain would act similarly if the test were made. It is not that every heart is not moved at the grief of kindred ones weeping beside their dead, but the strong spirit of democracy argues that the death of a duke means no more in the sight of heaven and honest humanity than that of any laborer in the ranks.

A prominent banker of Chicago, who has been in the habit of giving freely to charities, in order to learn, if possible, what proportion of collected funds went to out-of-work and needy individuals, dressed himself like a mendicant and in company with a number of bona fide in-hard-luck men applied to the different leading charieties for aid. The result of the tour was, so it is reported, that he gave to his unfortunate companions what assistance they stood in need of, doffed his rags and is out in a manifesto declaring that it is his opinon, now well-grounded, that the bulk of available funds goes to pay salaries of the officers of societies and a minimum proportion reaches the needy ones. It is not so in Toledo.

The cordial indorsement which has been given the institution of a course of University Extension lectures in this city is highly creditable to Toledo. The audience assembled in the High School hall last evening, large and representative, is an indication that our citizens are ready to accept, and to support, any movement the legitimate purpose of which is the higher education of the people. The University Extension system of study commends itself to all thoughtful minds as not only good in itself, but as highly beneficial to the entire social structure in the knowledge and intelligence it diffuses. The growth of the movement in this country is a healthy sign of the times. Its adoption in Toledo is a matter for local pride and congratulation.

AN ENGLISH CRITIC ON AMERICA.

In the current number of the Contemporary Review is a paper entitled "The Brand of Cain in the Great Republic" (meaning of course the United States of America), signed Edward Wakefield. We always enjoy the criticisms of a foreigner, however he views us. Mr. Wakefield falls into the frequent error of European writers. He forgets the extent and area of the country and accepts local peculiarities for national characteristics. Nevertheless, he holds up the mirror in a fashion that we must occasionally see ourselves as others see us. He fortifies himself by taking for a text the couplet from Lowell:

"From Rio Grande to Penobscot's flood
The whole great nation loves the smell of blood."

He considers the "new country" plea for murderous practices is worn out, and that it was never a valid one; for instance, Canada is younger than the United States and is a bloodless country compared with it. He says, not only are more murders recorded in the United States than in any other country, according to population, but the uncounted murders or homicides are twice as many. Again, the excuse of country newness will not do, because he finds that the record in the older states outdoes that in the newer ones, and the "most damning witness" is the fact that the country grows more blood-stained as it grows older.

Then, says Mr. Wakefield, when this plea is silenced, the American says "What else can you expect when this country is made the dumping ground for the whole world's paupers and criminals." In attempting to contradict this unassailable fact our English critic is so manifestly incorrect and unfair, he does harm to all his argument advanced on other points. He says we have "very harsh laws against immigration which we apply with cruel strictness," and without any data for proof, he affirms that the foreigners, ignorant as they are, are the most inoffensive of our people. Which shows that he knows not at all of the character, or enforcement, of the laws to regulate immigration we have only recently made and attempted to enforce. And he knows as little about the classification of our foreign-born citizens when he lumps Germans, Chinese and the Italians of the Mafia into one paragraph, as he does of localities and characteristics of the native people in this country. He innocently says, "the Italians are harmless enough if not interfered with." So are brigands and free-booters and dynamite bombs, as a rule. To prove his assertion he recites two instances of conflict in New York city between Italians who sold fruit at a street corner stall, and a teasing Irishman taking his nooning. The Irishman snatched a couple of oranges and ran away with them. All the gentle Italian did was to chase up the Irishman and stab him to death in the back! Another case he read of was of an Irishman who caught a watermelon from a load and signified his intention of appropriating it. The man from sunny Italy only thrust a knife into the offender's breast and left it there to go to the morgue with him. These, says the critic, considering he has made a case for the Italians, "are typical murders committed by them in America." As the offenders in both instances were Irish, the English reviewer naturally concludes it served them right.

He quite forgets that the illustrations he sets forth both involve the foreigners which he says are the most inoffensive of our citizens. He forgets that the downtrodden, irritable Irishman is his own countryman whom he is glad to rob and ship over here and whom we can soon make into a royal good patriot and citizen, after the pugnacity that British rule has engendered is gotten out of him.

A few extracts, direct, from this quite remarkable paper may be of interest:

"For five years the Americans wallowed in each other's blood and they revel in the recollection of it still.

"It will doubtless shock and surprise worthy people in England, who do not know much about America, to hear that burning alive is practiced in that free and enlightened country, a century after it has been abandoned in Spain and Italy. But so it is. In those states, where race hatred is added to the ordinary passions of a lawless mob, burning is not an uncommon form of execution by a lynching party.

"Boys, and even women, quite commonly take the life of a fellow-creature in the United States, and if "provocation" or any strong emotion can be shown, it is thought rather creditable to them than otherwise.

"A man was coming out of a saloon when another called out, "Say! Have you seen him?" "Seen who?" asked the man, taken unaware. "McGinty!" shouted the other, amid a roar of laughter from the saloon loafers. The victim of the stupid joke instantly "pulled his gun" and shot the joker. He was tried, but pleaded provocation, and got off with a nominal sentence.

"Another instance is told of a New York club man who shot another club man because the last-mentioned refused to read a book on the family pedigree of the former. It would appear that when this observer was in the States the only men he met in the north were Col. Shepard and our own Foraker, and he spent the most of his time in the Kentucky Vendetta region and down on the Mexican border.

"The ridiculous paper would scarcely merit so lengthy a review were it not written for so pretentious a perodical as the Contemporary and republished in Littell's Living Age. When it is charged that human life is held too cheaply in this country, as witness shootings and railway slaughters, there is no one to conscientiously contradict the assertion. That we bluster and talk and print bloodshed as if we meant it when many times we do not is also lamentably true. But this man, who lives within sight and sound of the scene in mid-London of the Whitechapel atrocities is hardly the one to be throwing stones. Perhaps he wants to scare his countrymen "agin coming to the Fair." Our sweetest revenge for so spiteful a manifestation is in the thought that some sapient American "takin' notes" over there will get even with his ridiculous misapprehension of people and things in the bloodthirsty United States.

We might invite the man to read up on English history, ancient and modern and to remember that England's chief glory is in her murder dealing weapons and the strength of her armies, which are simply organized for wholesale murder and that the trail of their blood for conquest, not for defense, is across two hemispheres, but we are all too polite. Let the man enjoy himself.

Parisians know that it is a difficult matter to legislate people into morality. The gay city has a recently organized society to secure the popular observance of Sunday with Senator Jules Simon for honorary president, and M. Leon Say, the eminent political economist for acting president. They say, "we are persuaded that working men must have one day in seven for rest, and the Christian Sabbath is naturally the one chosen. We depend entirely upon persuasion, and ask no legislation." Two years ago the society began with twenty members; now it numbers 2,500. The diplomatic Frenchmen are managing the reform with noteworthy tact.

The Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley tells the readers of the January number of the Century Magazine that "witchcraft is at the present time believed in by a majority of the citizens of the United States. No wonder the Doctor is afraid of infidels and women and other bobgoblins. He counts himself with the "majority."

Now that the New York harbor pilots have taken hold of the matter, perhaps New York city will be able to raise funds for the purchase of a water urn and goblets for a gift to the new ship named for it.

Dr. Graves is bound to go to his final station by the main traveled route; he will write a book while he is confined in the state penitentiary.

Perhaps Foraker has received more "pet" names than any other man of the moment. The Wheeling Register calls him the "Wild Jibberanhosy of Ohio."

PITTSBURG LEADER BURNED.

A Splendid Newspaper Plant in Ruins.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—The building of the Leader Publishing company, No. 133 Fifth avenue, was burned at midnight. All of the interior of the structure from cellar to roof, together with the entire Leader outfit, was totally destroyed.

The loss is about $80,000; insurance $45,000.

The fire is undoubtedly of incendiary origin and was first discovered in the editorial rooms at the rear of the first floor of the building.

Proffers of assistance were sent to business manager Joseph T. Nevin by the proprietors of all the morning papers. The Leader will be issued to-day from the office of the Commercial-Gazette.

MENTIONED ON THE STREETS.

That the new bicycle factory has not yet appeared on the surface.

That the University extension project started off with vim last evening.

That Remenyi is assured a full house next Wednesday night in Toledo.

That public school pupils are counting the days to the Easter vacation.

That the Y. W. C. A. is an organization deserving of good support from the public.

That Prof. Ogden is proud of the singing in the public schools. His pride is pardonable.

That Walter Brown wonders what Griffin stated to the Franklin county grand jury.

That in the distribution of offices Gov. McKinley is leaving the Foraker people out in the cold.

That a whole day passed in the Ohio legislature without the introduction of a redistricting bill.

That wires are being arranged to send an anti-administration delegation to the state convention.

That Grand Army posts of Toledo will be very largely represented at the Washington encampment.

That the Toledo railway clerks propose to entertain their friends in royal manner next Tuesday evening.

That Prof. Foster has called the turn on January weather to the letter in his special forecasts in the Bee.

That as usual Toledo will be well and ably represented in the suffrage convention at Washington next week.

That the street commissioner's force is endeavoring to discover the crosswalks on the principal streets of the city.

That a lower town lady visited at six homes yesterday afternoon, and found the grip prevailing in five of them.

That the Toledo ripper bill has not been completed, owing to the fact that so many republicans wanted office.

That the criminal docket in common pleas court is much lighter than usual, but it is big enough for all purposes.

That many of the people of Brown's addition would like to see the Robison company extend its line out Detroit avenue.

That the Glassboro and Lagrange street electric roads are taking a rest, much to the annoyance of residents in the neighborhood.

That Toledo is always to the front on public enterprises—witness the unanimity in the matter of entertaining Press club delegates.

That the Encyclopaedia Britannica people show their faith in the use of printers' ink by the liberal use of the Bee's advertising columns.

That Capt. Alexandur longs for the opening of the racing carnival. Being a land-lubber does not agree with the hustling Aleck.

That Albert Neukom is contemplating another trip to Europe, not for his health, but in order to educate another manager for a new stone company.

That some members of the legislature would be happier if the republican prosecuting attorney had not gone out of office early this month in Franklin county.

That the Scottish reunion at the close of the month will be such as to merit a large attendance of the members in the Valley of Toledo and surrounding jurisdictions.

That as a result of the attention drawn to the bachelors in the Bee a few days since, many of the lonesome ones are considering themselves as good as united for life.

That it is a relief to read the republican papers as they discuss the boodle methods of the late senatorial election. So many of their columns have been devoted to slandering democrats that the change is noticeable.

That the poem by Harry Brigham, entitled "A Summer Evening Reverie," first published in the Bee, is going the rounds of the daily press. The Kansas City Star is one of the papers which remembers to give credit.

REV. W. D. P. BLISS.

Announcement of His Engagements in Our City.

The Christian Social Union (Bishop Huntington, of Central New York, president, and Prof. R. T. Ely, of Johns-Hopkins university, secretary), has engaged the Rev. W. D. P. Bliss, of Boston, the New England apostle of Christian Socialism and editor of The Dawn, to preach and lecture for three months in the interest of the union. Mr. Bliss is now in the city, at the Hamilton hotel, where he would be glad to receive friends of the cause. He will preach to-morrow at Trinity church at 11 a. m.; at Grace church, Stickney avenue, 7:30 p. m., and will deliver addresses at the Y. M. C. A. at 4 p. m., Sunday, and on Monday at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall annex. The well known distinction Mr. Bliss has achieved, and the universal interest in his theme, will insure a large attendance.

QUAYSTONE REPUBLICANS.

A terrific fight is going on in Philadelphia for national delegates. The machine has a slate composed of men whose cry is Blaine, but who mean anything to beat Harrison.—Scranton Republican.

Since the results of last night's Philadelphia republican primaries for the election of delegates to Minneapolis were made known, the question is not whether President Harrison will recognize Quay but whether Quay will recognize President Harrison.—New York Telegram.

The action of the republicans of Pennsylvania in repudiating Harrison and Wanamaker is little less than impiety. It is evident that the Sunday-school and the bargain counter are alike impotent to sway the practical politicians who run republicanism in the Keystone state.—New York World.

Quay carried everything against Wanamaker in the Philadelphia primaries. The ordinary business prudence of the Sunday-school superintendent did not count at all among the republican strikers. This does not mean that Pennsylvania will vote for Blaine, but it does mean that Harrison can get it only on Quay's terms. It is a notification to Harrison that Quay understands what they are both there for.—St. Louis Republic.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Perhaps New York will capture the democratic convention if she will agree to tie up the tiger.—Washington Post.

Boston is the place to hold the democratic national convention, and it can choose no better standard-bearer than William Eustis Russell, of Massachusetts.—Boston Globe.

The promise of the New York World to elect another democratic president this year may have been made in good faith, but the Minneapolis hotel-keepers do not appear to be frightened.—Chicago Mail.

The Cleveland men, the Gorman men, the Hill men all may be certain of fair play here. For—let it not be used against the town—there is a strong suspicion that the man who can get the biggest pull in Kansas City is Jim Blaine.—Kansas City Star.

The report that St. Louis has abandoned her claims to the democratic national convention and retired from the contest is incredible. St. Louis was never known to give up until she had to. Comparatively speaking, she may be dying, but she never surrenders.—New York Tribune.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Emperor William inherits the ancestral love for the corn flower, but he prefers the red rose above all others.

There are said to be 18,000 newspaper women in London, who have 22 press clubs and authors' societies among them.

Henry P. Alden, who died at Duxbury, Mass., last week, was a direct descendant in the seventh generation of John Alden, the puritan.

The Prince of Wales has begun to sign himself "Edward," instead of "Albert Edward," indicating that when king he will be Edward VII.

The emperor of China still persists in studying the English language, although much remonstrance against his doing so has been expressed.

The New York Press says that Miss Helen Gould would be recognized as beautiful if she did not have a $100,000,000 father or any but a calico dress.

Patti and Bernhardt will sell flowers at the coming fair in New York for the benefit of the actors' fund. None but millionaires can afford to patronize them.

Preserved as a memento at the Adams house, Boston, is a box containing a few cigars which belonged to Gen. Grant at the time his illness compelled him to give up smoking.

Otto E. Ehlers, the explorer of Africa, who met Stanley in the east a few weeks ago, reports that the great traveler is a broken man and that he will probably not return to Africa.

The new senator from Kansas, Mr. Perkins, is a large, portly, smooth-shaven man, affable and neatly dressed, and, as a western paper observes, unlike his colleague, Senator Peffer, in that he wears his clothes as if he were used to them.

IT IS A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Toledo Institute of University Extension.

First Lecture of the Course Last Evening.

Prof. Henry C. Adams of the University of Michigan on the Industrial Revolution of the Eighteenth Century.

The High school hall was filled to its fullest capacity last evening, with listeners to the first lecture in the University Extension course for which our Toledo society has provided. Not only were all the seats and benches in the hall occupied, but extra chairs were brought in until there was no more space for them, and all were needed. While it may be that a few attended this opening lecture from curiosity, it is probable the most came as students and will continue to attend. There were about 350 present and Prof. Compton is of opinon a large majority of them have bought course tickets. There were perhaps more teachers than any other occupation represented, but men and women of all callings were there.

A Course in Chemistry and Physics.

At the request of the Manual Training board, Prof. Compton announced that a course of study in Chemistry and Physics, under the auspices of the board, would begin next Thursday evening. The teachers will be Mr. McPherson and Mr. Richards, and the course will consist of 12 lectures, illustrated by experiments in the laboratory.

The Lecturer Outlines the Lectures.

Prof. Henry C. Adams, of the University of Michigan, was then introduced by Prof. Compton as the lecturer whose services had been secured by the Toledo society of University Extension to give the first series in the Toledo institute, that on economics.

Prof. Adams began by saying that he felt a responsibility he had not felt when he took the cars for our city. The interest manifested by so large an attendance at the first lecture was an indication of the earnestness with which the study provided in the course would be undertaken.

The aim of all University Extension lecturers is instruction and suggestion, and not entertainment except as entertainment is found in suggested thought. His own course in Toledo is intended to throw light upon the industrial or labor problem and the monopoly problem. These, separate in themselves, call for separate treatment, though they spring from the same conditions. Fifteen years ago, speaking on this industrial question, it would first have been necessary to prove there was such a question. To argue that the question exists would now be unnecessary and tiresome, the evidences of its existence are so numerous. We find them in our books and current literature; in the minds of the people; in legislation; and in the extent of organizations of workers of to-day.

It is easy to understand a problem that is solved as we look back upon it in history, but it is difficult to comprehend one that touches our own lives. These six lectures are intended to give a few suggestions and a few references to historic facts, bearing upon the two great questions of to-day regarding labor and monopoly: what these questions are; whence they come, and what may be their solution. The first two lectures are historical, the first the review of past industrial conditions, the second a review of monopoly-creating conditions. The third and fourth lectures will trace the changes which have taken place in economic ideas and doctrines. The fifth and sixth will endeavor to show what may be the solution. Prof. Adams emphasized the "may," because, as he said, no man may be sure at this stage that he has reached a solution of the problem. It is not indeed impossible that the problem will work out its own solution.

With this introduction Prof. Adams took up the subject for last night's discourse. The manner in which it was treated is suggested by the outline which follows, but the full value of the lecture to the honest and earnest student of to-day's problems can only be appreciated by those who heard the lecture.

The Bee gives the outline of the course earnestly hoping that none who can avail themselves of the opportunity will fail to hear the rest of the lectures. The executive committee will arrange for a larger hall, should that be found necessary, as now seems probable. Those who have not yet purchased course tickets and intend to do so, should procure them at once, so that the committee may know what seating capacity they must provide for.

Lecture I.

The Industrial Revolution of the Eighteenth Century, January 15:

1. The form of the industrial revolution was the substitution of the factory system for the domestic system of production. (a) Description of the domestic system. (b) Description of the textile inventions. (c) Description of the factory systems. (d) Comparative efficiency of the two systems.

2. The essence of the industrial revolution was the substitution of competition for mediaeval industrial regulations. (a) Description of feudal and guild regulations. (b) Liberation of labor and development of property. (c) Theory of control by competition.

3. The result of the industrial revolution was the re-classification of society and the emergence of a labor problem. (a) The nineteenth century "worker" defined. (b) Social significance of machinery. (c) The labor problem defined.

Lecture II.

Social and Industrial Results of Steam Transportation, January 22:

1. Transportation by steam is the complement of manufacturing by machinery. (a) Facts pertaining to the development of steam transportation. (b) Extent of railways throughout the world.

2. The social results of steam transportation are such as arise from increase in speed and safety in travel, and from change in character of traffic. (a) Facts pertaining to speed and safety. (b) Modern commerce for the first time touches the lives of all classes of people. (c) Centralization of political power rendered possible. (d) The birth of national self-consciousness rendered possible.

3. The industrial results of steam transportation are such as follow upon changes in prices and in business organization. (a) Facts pertaining to changes in prices. (b) A perfect market excludes speculation. (c) Facts pertaining to changes in business organization. (d) The monopoly problem defined.

Lecture III.

Changes in Political Economy Since Mill. (A) Fundamental Conceptions. January 29:

1. John Stuart Mill is the most perfect expositor of English political economy. (a) Adam Smith. (b) Malthus. (c) Ricardo. (d) Mill.

2. The historical method has superseded the a priori method of investigation. (a) Historical explanation of the a priori method. (b) Real meaning of the historical method. (c) Outlook for political economy under the historical method.

3. The restrictive theory has given place to the expansive theory with regard to governmental functions. (a) Historical explanation of the restrictive theory of government. (b) Historical explanation of the rise of more liberal ideas respecting government. (c) Analysis of the doctrine of laissez-faire. (d) Principles limiting governmental functions.

Lecture IV.

Changes in Political Economy Since Mill. (B) Some Leading Doctrines. February 5:

1. The term "wealth" has come to represent an absolute rather than a relative idea. (a) Mill's view. (b) The modern view.

2. The term "productive labor" has been expanded to embrace all useful members of society. (a) The mercantilist view. (b) The physiocratic view. (c) The view of English economists. (d) The modern view.

3. The "wage fund doctrine" has been abandoned. (a) Statement of the wage fund doctrine. (b) Errors of the wage fund doctrine. (c) Abandonment of the doctrine destroyed the symmetry of English political economy.

4. Profits have come to be regarded as a form of wages rather than an element of interest.

5. The need of the doctrine of consumption is beginning to be recognized.

6. The meaning of all these changes is that political economy is ceasing to be the industrial philosophy of a class, and is coming to be the philosophy of industrial society.

Lecture V.

Trades Unions Considered as the Workingman's Solution of the Labor Problem. February 12:

1. Trades unions originated when the domestic system of industry gave place to the factory system. (a) Elizabethan labor code, 1563. (b) Repeal of Elizabethan code, 1814. (c) Trades union laws, 1825 and 1876.

2. The claim that trades unions can raise wages meets the approval of economic analysis. (a) Relation of the question to the wage fund doctrine. (b) Relation of the question to the concentration of industrial power.

3. The assumption of trades unions to regulate appreuticeships does not meet the approval of economic analysis. (a) Original purpose of apprentice rules was to make good workmen. (b) Modern purpose of apprentice rules is to establish exclusiveness in trades.

4. Trades unions are probably the agency by which federation of industries will be established.

Lecture VI.

Public Commissions Considered as the Conservative Solution of the Monopoly Problem. February 19:

1. The monopoly problem is the old problem of "fair prices" under a new guise. (a) Teaching of the Roman law. (b) Teaching of the church fathers and of canon law. (c) Practice of craft guilds. (d) Abandonment of all attempt at legal regulation.

2. But the monopoly problem of the nineteenth century involves more than the question of fair prices. (a) The social significance of corporation. (b) Relation of monopolies to popular government. (c) Social and moral tendencies of monopolies.

3. Commissions are bodies created by law to guard the interest which the public has in all industries that prove to be monopolies. (a) Railway commissions in the United States. (b) Municipal commissions. (c) The principle of publicity.

After-Lecture Classes.

At the close of his lecture Prof. Adams announced that questions on the topic of each lecture will be furnished Prof. Compton, who will give them out to students. At the close of each lecture hereafter, a second hour will be given to answering questions and bringing out further points in the lecture and discussion upon it. As this study class is at no additional cost, a great many will avail themselves of it.

MRS. STORER'S POTTERY.

Mrs. Bellamy Storer, wife of Congressman Storer, is regarded as a valuable addition to the list of notable congressmen's wives in Washington. Mrs. Storer is quite wealthy, but for all that is of a very practical and industrious turn of mind and prefers to be judged for what she has accomplished rather than as the wife of a congressman. She has spent some time in Europe studying art, but on her return put it to a much more practical use than the majority do. The Rookwood Pottery company of Cincinnati is the outcome of her efforts. She started the making of pottery in a small way, and gradually the excellence of the productions necessitated the extension of the works. Her interest in it is an active one, as she is capable of directing the work. In conversation with a Washington newspaper man Mrs. Storer said: "Our pottery obtained a second prize at the Paris exhibition. We employ both men and women. The best work we had at the start came from a woman, Miss Frye. The women are more to be depended on than men, and I believe in equal wages for the same work, and they receive it, providing the work is done as well."

CONNECTICUT CIDER.

The cider product of Connecticut this season beats the record of any other year. For three months past the farmers of the state have been driving their wagons laden with apples to the cider mills, many of which have been squeezing out the juice by day and by night. A single mill owner used up 160,000 bushels of apples, and a Connecticut paper says there is now enough cider in the 44 states of the union through the year. Under the circumstances it ought to be sold at an easy price.

There are many people of temperance or even tectotal proclivities who are not opposed to the quaffing of cider, which is a beverage which will not make its consumers tipsy if they keep their appetite for it under control. Among these people strict Puritans may be found who consider it a pleasant and wholesome beverage.

MODERN NOVEL MAKING.

One of those novelists whose works are found upon news stands and railway book stalls has just been sued in one of our courts for a debt, and some revelation of the business of modern novel-making has been the result. This woman wrote one book of which 100,000 copies were sold. She testified that she received $1,000 for it. Another book sold 50,000 copies, and she got $250 for it.

She is now employed by a book and story manufactory, receiving $40 a week. She is given the shell or skeleton of a story, just as artificers in the trades are given patterns, and she is expected to fill up the chinks at the rate of one story every two weeks; and her employers do not care whether she buys, begs, borrows or steals from the unprotected English novels her dialogue and her situations.

ANTICS OF A FIREBALL.

A ball of fire about the size of a wagon wheel was seen by Mr. Joseph Zimmerman and his brother on their farm, near this place, about 9 o'clock Christmas night, which moved along in a straight line about ten feet from the earth, whirling rapidly in its flight. The two men were awe-struck and ran at the approach of it. When nearly opposite where they stood, the immense ball struck a tree and tore through the branches setting them on fire. A hundred yards further on it struck another tree, and in an instant disappeared as suddenly as it appeared. The mysterious and frightful spectacle was witnessed by others about that hour, and the authentic statement of the spectators is borne out in proof through the burnt tree, which is positive evidence that it was not a freak of the imagination.—Williamsport (Md.) Leader.

SCOLDING WIVES.

On a certain occasion a clergyman, who was preaching to a refined audience on the pangs of a guilty conscience, made use of the following familiar simile: "An evil conscience is like a scolding wife." But he did not stop there. He continued to draw out every possible thread of his illustration to its full length. "A scolding wife, my brethren, will not let you rest at home or abroad, at dinner or at supper, in bed or even out of bed! Her litigious temper and loud tongue (which is worse than thunder to the wine-cask) take all the juices and savoriness out of the ragouts you eat; all the sugar and sweetness out of the coffee you drink. Whether you go forth on foot or on horseback, or in a coach drawn by four galloping horses, is all one; she is always at your skirts, following you whithersoever you go."

THE SOUNDS OF COLOR.

A beam of sunlight is made to pass through a prism, so as to produce the solar spectrum or rainbow. A disk, having slits or openings in it, is made to revolve and the colored light of the rainbow is made to break through it and fall on silk, wood or other material in a glass vessel. As the colored light falls upon it sounds will be given by the different parts of the spectrum, and there will be silence in other parts. If the vessel contains red worsted and the green light flashes upon it loud sounds will be given. Only feeble sounds will be heard when the blue parts of the rainbow fall upon the vessel.

A KICKER.

The tall muscular ostrich at the Zoo is quite a pugilist with his feet and is notoriously fond of "kicking" whenever anything happens to displease him. His meals are always brought to him in a large bucket, which is set down in the middle of the cage and left for his pleasure. The other day Milord Ostrich stuck his head into the bucket and withdrew it quickly with a seemingly proud sniff of disdain. Instantly his right leg was drawn up close to his tail feathers and discharged like lightning toward the poor dinner. When Keeper Byrne peeped through the wires an hour later the dismembered fragments of the bucket were scattered around the cage, and one side of the partition was plastered with the debris of the noon-day repast.—Philadelphia Record.

Forty-eight stage coaches carrying the United States mail were held up in this country last year.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

A BLAZE IN NEW YORK.

Quarter of a Million Dollars Damage.

One Man Lost His Life in the Buildings.

The Rapidity With Which the Flames Spread Made it Impossible to Get Them Under Control.

New York, Jan. 16.—At 9:45 this morning the blacksmith shop in a wooden building at the corner of Bank street and Thirteenth avenue was discovered on fire and with amazing rapidity the whole building was enveloped in flames.

The stiff westerly winds soon caused the flames to communicate to the huge seven story building occupied by the Van Tassell Warehouse company, and that building from top to bottom, was soon aglow with a seething fire.

Shortly after the grain warehouse caught two of the men were seen at a window on the fourth floor looking for means of escape.

One of them, John Spedel managed to gain the grain chute, through which boats receive their freight, and slid down in safety.

The other, Frederick Kopf, tried the stairs, but that means of exit had been cut off by the flames and as he was never seen again, he was undoubtedly burned to death.

Thirty thousand bushels of oats in the grain warehouse were consumed and the entire loss is estimated at $250,000.

The new brick stable of the Knickerbocker Ice company adjoining the warehouse were saved from much damage, but only through the strenuous exertions of the firemen. By 11:30 the flames were under control and all danger of the fire spreading further had been averted.

NO TIME FOR JOBBERS.

The Democratic House Warns the Public Plunderers to Keep Off.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The democrats have placed themselves on record as opposed to all extravagance in public expenditures, by adopting Holman's resolutions to that effect. Republicans generally, and the friends of congressional jobs are severely criticizing.

ONE THING HE DID KNOW.

But He Never Revealed It Till the Stranger Was Talked Dry.

A certain enthusiast made it a rule to talk of something really important with every person whom he met. He believed that any two people could find common ground for conversation if they only knew how and would exercise their knowledge. But even he found one hard customer.

He had tried all the usual expedients, had made suggestion after suggestion, offered leading remarks upon various topics, and exhausted the resources of courteous questioning.

In every direction he had been stopped by polite monosyllables that gave no opportunity for further progress.

There was no indication of aversion from conversation on the part of the other, but simply an appearance of hesitating timidity and distrust of himself. This would never do. It would not fit in with the enthusiast's theories. Finally, frankly and rather desperately, he said:

"Mr. Jones, I am thoroughly anxious to make your acquaintance, to talk with you upon some theme of mutual interest. I do not seem to be able to find our common ground. Can you help me? If you will suggest a subject of interest to you upon which you will be willing to converse I shall be most happy to attempt it."

Whereupon the other, visibly brightening and leaning forward, confidentially answered: "Just try me on leather!"

Penelope—"How do you know that he loves you? He has said nothing as yet." Perdita—"Because all the other boys take especial pains to come around and tell me that he is a fool."—New York Herald.

"Cynthia," said Col. Culliper, "isn't there some way of keeping Clarence from sliding down stairs? It disturbs me greatly." "There is just one way, Cyrus," said Mrs. Culliper, "and that is to move into a one-story house."—New York Sun.

Mrs. Hilliare—"You seem to get along nicely on your allimony," Mrs. Grasse—"Yes, indeed. I used to so hate asking my husband for pin money. Now, when I see anything I like I can buy it without feeling I'm extravagant."—Epoch.

She was a Boston girl, cold and proud, and the young Polish artist had long sighed at her feet in vain. At last he resolved to bring matters to a crisis. "Minerva," he said, "if you will promise to marry me I will teach you how to pronounce Paderewski correctly." "Alexis," she exclaimed, sinking upon his bosom with a heavenly sigh, "I am yours!"—New York Press.

WHEN PLUMB WAS GREEN.

Senator Plumb died a millionaire, but he was once just as green as any other youth about business matters, if the story an old friend in Kansas tells of him is true. The future senator had saved up $100 and had it on deposit in a local bank. He wanted to use the money, and one day asked the president of the bank for it. He told Plumb to sign a check. The young man looked up and said: "Eh?" "Make out a check for the amount and sign it," replied the banker. "No, sir-ee!" said the statesman in embryo, "no, sir-ee," I don't put my name on paper unless I keep the paper. I gave you my money without taking your receipt, and I want it back on the same terms." And it took considerable arguing to persuade him that it was the customary thing to make checks for money.—Philadelphia Press.

ISAAC WATTS WAS A LITTLE MAN.

He said jocosely to six of his tall quizzing friends who asked him how he felt among so many men, "that he was a six-pence among six pennies, worth them all." SOZODONT is just so; there may be many preparations for the teeth, but it is worth them all.

City Auditor's Office.

Toledo, O., Dec. 31st, 1891.

The committee on ways and means of the common council of the city of Toledo, Ohio, and the undersigned, invite sealed proposals at this office to

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 1ST, 1892,

at 7 o'clock p. m. for the purchase of Street Improvement Bonds, to the amount of Sixteen Hundred and Seven 98-100 ($1,607 98-100) Dollars, bearing date Dec. 28, 1891, and payable as follows:

One Hundred and Sixty-Seven 98-100 ($167 98-100) Dollars on June 28th, 1893, and One Hundred and Sixty Dollars at the expiration of every six months thereafter to and including Dec. 28, 1897, at the office of the city treasurer, with interest at the rate of five (5) per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually at the place as evidenced by coupons to be attached to said bonds.

Said improvement bonds are issued pursuant to Section 2704 to 2707 of the revised statutes of the state of Ohio, and also under an ordinance of the common council of the city of Toledo, Ohio, "To provide for the issue of improvement bonds to pay the cost and expense of the improvement of Magnolia street, from Michigan street to Champlain street."—Passed Dec. 14th, 1891.

The said bonds will be sold at not less than par and accrued interest, to the highest bidder.

Bidders will be required to state the gross amount they will pay for the bonds besides the accrued interest to date of delivery at Toledo, Ohio. They will also be required to deposit with each bid an amount of money or a certified check on some responsible bank equal to at least five (5) per centum of the par value of the bonds, so bid for, as a guarantee of good faith, and that the bid so made (if successful) will be fulfilled in accordance with the terms thereof, and the requirements of the law and ordinances. When the bids have been examined, and the award made according to law, all monies or checks deposited as guarantees shall be returned to the depositor, or held by the city auditor subject to his call, except that of the successful bidder, which shall be held and considered, and accepted as part payment of the bonds so awarded or sold, but should there be any repudiation of the contract or agreement, or refusal to accept and pay for the bonds so sold, then and in that case the deposit shall be forfeited to the city of Toledo, and shall become the property of said city, in compensation for loss and expenses attending the sale of said bonds and as liquidated damages for repudiation of bid. And no bid will be received if not accompanied by money or check aforesaid.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Proposals should be addressed to the "Auditor of the city of Toledo, Ohio," and be indorsed "Proposals for improvement bonds."

REMEMBERING JUNE.

What gain I in remembering June
When winter snowflakes flutter still
And noiseless 'gainst my window-pane,
To crowd and crouch against the sill?
When evening closes in o'er soon,
And night, like to some swarthy Turk,
Swings high a scimitar new moon,
Keen-edged and bright amidst the mirk?

What gain I in remembering joy
When grief and I are comrades twain,
And sorrow sits beside my hearth
Grim nodding to her sister, pain?
When from the joyous world a flower
I seem estranged, as though it knew
That I had lived my happy hour
And said, "I laugh—but not for you."

What gain I in remembering? This:
That spite of snow and storm wind keen,
I walk the summered woods again,
Made pink with perfumed eglantine.
I thrill again to sudden bliss—
The rapture of the Yet-to-be—
And naught in life is much amiss
While this remembrance stays with me.

The reason for the red sunset indicating a fine day to come is because the amount of vapor floating in the air reflects the beams of the sun, and more freely transmits the red rays of light than the colored rays. It is the degree of moisture in the atmosphere which affects the refraction of the light, and when red rays of evening are freely transmitted the amount of moisture does not approach the rain point, and therefore promises the following day to be fine.

HIS STORMS ARE HERE.

The Weather Is Indorsing Prof. Foster.

A Cold Wave Due About Next Saturday.

People Will Have Much Use for Their Overcoats Before the Month of January Passes Into History.

Copyrighted, 1892, by W. T. Foster.

St. Joseph, Mo., Jan. 16.—Last week's letter gave detailed forecasts of the storm wave due to cross the continent from January 14 to 18. The next will be due to reach the California coast about the 18th, cross the western mountains by the close of the 19th, the great central valleys from 20th to 22d, and reach the eastern states about the 23d.

About the 19th this will become a furious storm in the country drained by the upper Missouri, and the storm will gradually decrease in force as it moves eastward.

A cold wave will strike the upper Missouri valley about the 21st and follow in the path of the preceding storm wave. This cold wave will be more severe than any of the month that preceded it.

Another storm will be due to reach the California coast, well to the south, about the 24th, cross the western mountains by the close of the 25th, the great central valleys from 26th to 28th, and the Atlantic states about the 29th. It will be a fierce winter storm during its entire journey across the continent.

On the 27th a cold wave will appear in the northwest, moving down the Missouri valley on the 28th and into the southern states on the 29th. This cold wave will become a dangerous blizzard on the western plains on the 28th, and a fierce norther in Texas on the 29th.

Both of the storms will cause very severe weather in all parts of the United States, and extreme cold in all the northern tier of states. The most severe storms, sudden changes and extremes of the weather will occur from January 19 to February 5.

I have now completed my calculations as to the 1892 drouth. It is not practical to publish detailed forecasts, as every locality depends largely on the topography of its immediate vicinity. So far as I can I will reply to those who may address me by letter on this subject. In places the drouth will run north of the fortieth degree of north latitude, but generally it will be confined to south of that line.

Animal Magnetism.

The electrical theory holds that electricity is the immediate cause of all motion and all life, and it seems pertinent to refer to that branch of electrical science which deals with animal magnetism.

Prof. N. Kolkin, of Kenyon, Goodale county, Minnesota, has written a little book on electricity and what he calls akasa. The latter I would call animal magnetism. He explains akasa as being that electrical force which comes from the influence of the mind.

I desire to mention only a few of his experiments as suggesting that electricity is the universal force. He says that akasa appears to be a coarser state of matter than electricity. As leading up to the experiments that detect the presence of this akasa, Prof. Kolkin mentions the following experiments:

If we place two plates, one of zinc and one of copper, facing each other, but apart, both moistened with sulphuric or other acid, an electric current will pass through the air from the zinc to the copper, and an astatic pendulum will oscillate along the current when placed within it. If a deep shadow be cast between the plates and across the current, it will be found that no current exists in the shadow. The astatic pendulum was explained in my last letter.

Persons possessing positive magnetism have more curly hair. The direction in which hair lies indicates in which direction the ethereal or electric matter is discharged. The hair on the heads of humans has a vortex, or curl, at a point a little behind the crown. The spiral of this curl or vortex is with the sun in the northern hemisphere; under the equator there is no vortex, and in the southern hemisphere the vortex curls the other way in the aborigines. This is caused by a discharge of electricity at that point. Cattle and other animals have this vortex on their loins over their stomachs. The currents of electricity at these points are detected by the astatic pendulum.

If a person stands on one side of a room and has his whole attention turned to some point on the opposite wall, a strong current will move from his face to that point, which may be readily detected by the astatic pendulum being placed in its path. When the current ceases, there is a dead calm in the line of the current, but on all sides there is a backward flow of the same depth as the diameter of the central current. If the person takes his attention away from that point, or thinks of it no longer with any interest, the backward flow on the outside ceases, and the central current flows back or seems to sink back into the body.

This movement of akasa can be detected in all conditions of the atmosphere, where no other experiments with pendulums are possible.

With the astatic pendulums, any person may examine the currents of akasa—electricity—on a table. If you will and imagine that there are currents over the table from north to south, the experimenter will find it that way. If you will that the currents change, the instrument indicates the change.

It is not my intention to further discuss this question, because it would lead away from the purpose of my letters. All the above experiments are used by Prof. Kolkin in discussing animal magnetism, and I only repeat them, not as proof, but to suggest the possibility of animal magnetism being the same force we see in the natural magnet, the tornado, the same that is the motive power of the universe.

To the thoughtful reader, these experiments will suggest the cause of "spirit rappings," mind reading, mesmerism, animal magnetism and the many otherwise inexplainable influences that one person or animal has over others. But these are questions entirely out of line with these papers, and I must here drop the discussion.

WHY HE GOT NO SUPPER.

"Wal, sir, do you know I've been in this town for a week, eat three meals a day regular and haven't had any supper yet?" said an M. C. of decided ruralistic appearance in the lobby of one of the leading hotels to another M. C., who represents the boys in the furrows also, but who has been here once before.

"Well, why don't you eat supper, make it four meals a day, and get the worth of your money?" said the second-termer.

"Why, I don't have any supper up here," replied the first-termer. "Now, for instance, one of my senators asked me the other night to take dinner with him at 8:30 o'clock. Confound his old time, I recollect when he used to get up at 4 o'clock in the morning to feed the hogs and horses, and by 8:30 o'clock at night he was sound asleep. Wal, I reckon it all depends upon how and where a man was brought up, but if my wife knew I wasn't eating dinner until 8 o'clock she would think I was being worked to death."—Washington Post.

CONDITION OF TRADE.

The New Year Starts Out Splendidly.

Large Exports in December—The Iron Output—Low Prices for Cotton—General Review.

New York, Jan. 16.—R. G. Dun & Co's weekly review of trade says:

It was suggested two weeks ago that the exports in December were likely to be extraordinarily large. The preliminary reports just issued indicate that the exports in that month were probably the largest ever known, for while no increase appears in cotton and exports of provisions, cattle and oil were slightly less than a year ago, a gain of $20,100,000 appears in breadstuffs, making the net increase in principal items $17,540,854, or nearly 25 per cent., indicating that the aggregate exports for the month will probably exceed $116,000,000, against about $98,000,000 last year, when the amount was greater than it had ever been in any month. The exports of flour increased 50 per cent. and exports of wheat are 15,600,000 bushels, against 4,800,000 last year, while exports of cotton are 48,000,000 pounds greater in quantity, though no increase appears in value, owing to the low prices. These enormous exports overshadow all other features in the commercial situation. They insure large supplies of money, if ever needed, but at present the markets are everywhere well supplied, except at southern points, and better supplied there than a week ago. Treasury disbursements have been large, and there is no reason to look for a lack in the supply of money.

Another fact of large importance is that the iron output was not diminished in December, as is usual, owing to the stoppage of furnaces during the holidays, but was 188,082 tons weekly, against 188,135 December 1. The market is fairly active, though the enormous output gives buyers an advantage, and in Alabama and Virginia iron is offered at low prices.

Copper is flat and in tin there is little change, but lead is weak at $4.20, and the market for coal very dull on account of the very heavy output.

The wool production last year is estimated considerably larger than that of the year before, but the stocks on hand are somewhat larger, indicating that the consumption in 1891 has been about the same as in 1890. The market shows no important change, and just at this season none is to be expected.

Breadstuffs have been much weaker since the publication of the government reports, and wheat has fallen 1 5-8c and oats 3-4c. Exports and receipts continue large, though the colder and less favorable weather to some extent restricts the movement. Coffee is unchanged and oil has advanced 3 cents. Cotton fell to $7.37 during the week, the lowest price for 43 years, but has since recovered to $7.56, though receipts and stocks are remarkably large. The depression at the south is not relieved by talk at the cotton convention, and probably cannot be in any way except by free sales of cotton, which is now held for higher prices.

The business failures occuring throughout the country during the last seven days number 330 as compared with 435 last week (eight days). For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 411.

All miserable sufferers with dyspepsia are cured by Simmons Liver Regulator.

LEARNING IDEAS HOW TO SHOOT.

But Shooting Craps Was Not Just the Style Wanted.

Wapakoneta, O., Jan. 16.—(Special)—The directors surprised their school teacher in sub-district No. 9, a few miles east of here, and caught him shaking dice with his boys, about 14 or 15 years of age.

The directors also saw him in a saloon in Freyburgh, a small hamlet southeast of here, indulging in a jamboree.

The board asked him to resign, but he refused. There is going to be trouble in the camp. The directors are going to fight to the bitter end, while the school teacher's friends are taking his part.

"SILVER" FLINT IS DEAD.

A Character Removed From the Ball Field.

"Billy" Sunday, the Ex-Chicago Fielder, Will Preach the Funeral Sermon To-Day.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Several hundred friends and admirers of "Old Silver" Flint paid their last tribute to the great catcher yesterday. The funeral services will take place at his late home, 62 East Twenty-fifth street, this afternoon, after which the remains will be taken to St. Louis for interment.

By request "Old Hoss" Billy Sunday, the ex-Chicago fielder, will preach the funeral sermon.

Flint was a member of lodge 30 of the Elks, but he did not die in the pale of the society. His lodge was the one at New Orleans, but the members of the Chicago lodge will do him honor at the funeral.

He was very popular among the Elks in every city in the United States, and the local lodge will send a token of sorrow in the way of flowers and resolutions, and many of its members will attend the funeral.

It is said the St. Louis lodge will also take action on his death.

Capt. Anson is the only member of the Chicago club at present in the city. He and President Hart will attend the funeral. Several elegant floral designs were received last night from the veteran catcher's friends.

Itching Skin Humors
Torturing, Disfiguring Eczemas
And every species of itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted, pimply, and blotchy skin and scalp diseases are relieved in the majority of cases by a single application, and speedily, permanently and economically cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES when the best physicians, hospitals, and all other remedies fail. No language can exaggerate the suffering of those afflicted with these diseases, especially of little babies, whose tender skins are literally on fire.

CUTICURA
Remedies are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times, are absolutely pure, and agreeable to the most sensitive, and may be used on the youngest infant and most delicate invalid with gratifying and unfailing success.
CUTICURA, the great skin cure, instantly allays the most intense itching, burning, and inflammation, permits rest and sleep, heals raw and irritated surfaces, cleanses the scalp of crusts and scales, and restores the hair. CUTICURA SOAP, the only medicated toilet soap, is indispensable in cleansing diseased surfaces. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood and skin purifier and greatest of humor remedies, cleanses the blood of all impurities, and thus removes the cause. Hence, the CUTICURA REMEDIES cure every humor of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair.
"HOW TO CURE DISEASES OF THE SKIN AND BLOOD," mailed free to any address, 64 pages, 300 Diseases, 50 Illustrations, 100 Testimonials. A book of priceless value to every sufferer.

The Household Helps to Make Them So.

Woman's Wants and Needs Discussed —The Cricket's Song in Verse— Are Women More Impolite Than Men— Poetry—Scrap Basket.

THE SHRINE OF LOVE.

Christian Saint Paul once, in the Grecian land,
Risking his life to spread the truth abroad,
Came to a temple, where, with skillful hand,
Was graved in marble "To the Unknown God."

Then, to those great but godless men he said:
"Him, whom ye worship ignorantly here,
Declare I unto you, till every head
And every knee be bowed in holy fear."

* * *

Thus ignorant, I reared a mystic shrine;
There did I hymn Love's sweet and holy name,
Yet ever failed to light the flame divine,
Till She came near, and Eros with her came.

He reigns supreme within her deep sweet eyes;
Attest the truth, my verses and my sighs.
HARRY BRIGHAM.

About Impolite People.

A Toledo gentleman who reads the Household, brought in the following clipping, from the Chicago Interior, for our consideration:

If you want to get out of a car, or a depot door, or out of any sort of a room, do not let a woman get ahead of you. There is a sort of sublime self-poise in the way a woman will block an exit, and calmly view the landscape o'er, while sixty anxious and hurried people are waiting to go out.

A New York business man rushed into print the other day with a like grumble. He had lost trains on the elevated road to catch which meant money and business to him, because some woman out shopping or visiting sauntered up the stairs ahead of him, taking all the space. She would not hurry, and he couldn't get by her or run over her. Indeed, in her sublime preoccupation of self she did not know whether one man or twenty were waiting behind her.

In a letter to the Household comes enclosed this extract, which is apropos here:

The woman who gets under a big hat and goes to the theater with it, is a thoughtful and considerate person compared with the woman who stands in front of the stamp window to lick her stamps and put them on her letters or packages. Nobody is obliged to go to the theater, but everybody must have postage stamps. * * Does any human being know what will start the woman who does her stamping at the stamp window?

These are serious charges and wrapped up in them are texts for a number of sermonettes. The woman before the stamp window is not a business woman; she knows nothing of the rush and tumult of the crowd behind her. The supposition is, her habits are those of leisure and she sins through thoughtlessness, ignorance and selfishness. She is accustomed to having people wait for her. She has been led by certain fond and chivalrous friends and admirers to believe it is a pleasure so to wait, and while the man next her is wishing "for pity's sake, she would move on—go over to the radiator or window sill and lick on her stamps," she is fondly supposing that he is struck with admiration at the dimples in her cheeks, or the graceful poise of her head.

This unconsciously selfish and impolite woman is a legitimate product of the school which still maintains that woman's chief charm is in her innocency and helplessness and her ignorance of the ways of the rough and rushing world—the school that Eugene Field assumes to represent when he says "We want our mothers and sisters and sweethearts to remain our pets, and we want all the world to know that they are our pets." The world is more likely to find out about it all when their ignorance throws husband and lover into a "pet" themselves, as these grumblers show.

The mate to these is the woman who, from the inheritance of generations and long-indulged habit stands at the street-car steps and says elaborate good-byes and "do tell Sally to come over," while the driver is counting the seconds. Another is she who goes, with some little matter in which she, alone, is interested into the office of the busy man or woman and makes herself agreeable by telling long, irrelevant stories with various taking smiles and gestures while the busy one is on nettles as the hour hand of the clock moves round.

The diagnosis of the case of the woman at the stamp window fits the other instances under consideration quite as well. Her intense egoism, her self-importance, has been inculcated and fed in her nature until she is unconscious of it. She has been "petted" too much. She is the woman who remains placidly within "her sphere," and men of a certain kind of chivalry affect to admire her disposition and conduct until—she gets in their way and they stumble over her. Then the guileless creature gets more curses than does even her strong-minded sister who not only gets out of his way but sometimes gets so far ahead of him he is nettled quite as badly.

And now having enumerated these sins of selfishness and ignorance in women (and this is what they are as a rule), let us in justice take a glimpse at their brothers, who err sometimes through selfishness which is brutal and defiant and not the result of ignorance and wrong training. The gentleman caller aforesaid who furnished the leading text and who very pleasantly discussed the various phases of this kind of impoliteness with your hostess, agrees with her that the man who rushes into bank or postoffice and thrusts women and men who are waiting their turn aside and slides in his paper to get served first, is a match for the woman at the stamp window; and the men who cluster on street corners and expectorate right and left until a woman is obliged to walk in the gutter to escape contact and defilement, is almost as guilty as she who blocks door and stairway in exit. And the crowd who stand on the rear platform of the street car and who remain unmoved in a solid phalanx until she who would alight must plead "Let me pass, will you?" belongs to the category with the others.

The selfishness of the smoker and spitter is proverbial; he dominates the situation whatever it is. Conveniences for him are arranged in every line of travel. The woman with a young child must nurse and dress it in the open-to-all railway coach; the smoker has a room provided for him. Said our caller, subscribing to all these indictments: "My wife is obliged to give over all attempts at boat-riding in the summer because tobacco smoke sickens her; she is passionately fond of the water and has tried in vain to overcome her weakness, if such it is."

By these presents which no man or woman can controvert, neither sex can plead superiority over the other as to polite behavior, and by this sketchy treatment of the subject it is proven that selfishness, thoughtlessness and ignorance are the prime causes of impoliteness. The thoroughly well-bred, kind-natured, well-informed person is rarely impolite in any place or condition.

We may make excuses for these serious short-comings in our friends and acquaintances, but it is true that women, even "strong-minded" women, place kindly consideration, which is one term for politeness, above beauty, wealth or brilliancy in their men associates. A man who is capable to rule or ruin his country, by the simple twist of his tongue or scratch of his pen would disgust a woman if he spat upon her gown. This is a secret I have often wanted to tell men, especially those who are desirous of impressing women with their culture and agreeableness.

Two instances of politeness—the pure quill—came under my cognizance recently. I saw a kind gentleman help an old and blind colored man across the street, set his feet and guiding cane in the right direction, and watch him well on his way. And I saw a pleasant young man offer his arm to an elderly lady and leaving his own gay party walk two blocks out of his own way to assist her over an icy pavement. It is pleasant to record these things.

BARBARA MOSS.

A Young Woman's List.

Last week it was suggested that the sisters bring their note-books, gather around the Household hearth and jot down their "wants." I suppose it was not intended that we should all come at once, for I don't believe that even the Bee's big Christmas edition contained enough space to enumerate the wants of all the members of the Household. But I think the idea was that we should slip in quietly one at a time, make our wants known, in a modest but determined manner, and retire, strong in the faith of the power of the press to do much to bring about the condition of things we desire. This being my reading of the invitation, I will be very moderate, and at the risk of being accused of "wasting time," mention a few things that I want—and don't want—for no matter how numerous are a woman's wants, there are always an equal number of things that she does not want. For instance: I want to see young women take a greater interest in the leading questions of the day. I want them to be able to form opinions and express them. And if those opinions sometimes happen to be on that, to them, tabooed subject, politics. I don't want all the men in hearing to meet them with those old-time effective arguments (?)—horror or ridicule. I want the privilege of boarding a crowded street car at 6 o'clock, and I don't want to be made the target for reproachful, not to say disgusted looks from all the male occupants, who wonder (audibly sometimes), why the ladies can't get their shopping done before that hour. Are there so few working girls in Toledo that all women must needs be shoppers? I want to improve my leap year opportunities—if I want to,—but I don't want every young man to regard me fearfully, believing that I have studied the Bee's Bachelor directory with fell determination and marked him for my special prey.

I want to see the gum-chewing girl, and the cigarette-smoking dude and the women with the street-sweeping gown relegated to the shades of oblivion, together with those abominations of appreciative theater-goes—the big-hatted women and the big-headed man.

Most of all, I want to keep my promise to be brief, and I don't want to bore the readers of the Household, but even as I write them I realize sadly that these two wants must remain forever unanswered.

JEANNETTE.

MAN.

Oft ruled by woman, though themselves are kings,
Grandly heroic, vain in smaller things,
They do great deeds—and great rewards they claim,
They live for money, if they die for fame.
Mastered by passion, changing for a freak,
Their hearts are soft, but very seldom break.
Each for himself creates a mimic throne,
And claims a court to worship him alone.
Their larger minds despise the meaner sins;
They strike with swords, they do not pick with pins;
Brave to the world, they face home trials ill—
They eat the fruit and blame the woman still.

—Dorothea A. Alexander.

Woman's Wants and Needs.

And so Aunt Hepzibah would like the Bee Household to give their opinion individually, of what they consider the greatest want of women. After much thought, I conclude that a firm, unswerving, child-like faith, in the love, power, and goodness of God, is the most important need. I might say of every child on earth, and we want, Oh! how we want the terrible curse of intemperance wiped from the face of the earth. I wonder, loved members of the Household, if you are all as heart-sick as I am, seeing the cruel suffering of the innocent as well as the guilty from this cause. Of seeing men with brilliant intellect and kind, generous, sympathetic hearts, men gifted with a talent for art (one of God's most beautiful gifts), going down, down, down to ruin, until the life that might have been so useful and beautiful goes out forever. Could you have gone with me to a home I visited this week, you would not wonder I am heartsick. The family were once respected, prominent citizens, well off in this world's goods, and happy. He launched into the saloon business and this is the sad finale. His mind became demented from intoxication and while wandering near the railroad he was killed by the cars. At the time his mangled remains were lying at the undertaker's awaiting burial, his youngest son was before the judge at our court house to receive his sentence to the state's prison for robbery. The poor heartbroken mother is seriously ill at her humble home. But I think I hear you all cry out don't make us so gloomy; so I will change the subject.

Is it not surpassing strange that the well-to-do English pople, born and brought up in the old country, can never get rid of that aristocratic prejudice against serving girls. During one of my visits to Canada, I chanced to make the acquaintance of a nice old couple, English born and bred, (earnest Christians, very generous and charitable). They had two sons, good respectable young men, brilliant as the majority of young farmers. (The dear old lady died about two years ago). For ten years there has been in their employ as domestic, a bright, refined, educated, fine looking young woman, and with all the rest a model housekeeper. The youngest son and this young woman have loved each other long and faithfully, but the aged parents would never consent to their marriage, because—she was their "hired girl." Thus the young couple are dutifully waiting with patience, (while their youth is passing away) for the wheel of fortune to change their destiny. And what makes it stranger still in this case, this same young girl taught the old gentleman how to read his bible and to write his name. He told me so himself. But I must close, I shall wear your patience entirely out. L. C. H.

That was a beautiful sentiment, gracefully shrined in words, that Phillips Brooks sent to the poet Whittier on his 84th birthday:

"Dear Mr. Whittier: I have no right, save that which love and gratitude and reverence may give, to say how devoutly I thank God that you have lived, that you are living, and that you will always live. May His peace be with you more and more. Affectionately your friend,
PHILLIPS BROOKS.

"Through tattered robes small vices do appear Robes and furred gowns hide all."

It is claimed by one writer that one and one-fourth times more money is expended annually on funerals in the United States than is spent for public school purposes, and more than the combined gold and silver yield of the country in the year 1880. This does not include the cost of cemetery lots.

It would be well for us if we could quit our habit of thinking that what we say of the dead is of more weight that what we say of the living. The dead either know nothing, or know enough to despise both us and our insults, or adulation.

The upper skies are palest blue

With tattered fleece of inky hue
Close overhead the storm-clouds go.

A Toledo boy asked a Baptist minister if he would have a light. "No, child," said the minister, "I am one of the lights of the world." "I wish, then," replied the boy, "you were hung at the end of our alley, for it is a very dark one.

Isn't this a delicious bit of praise?

A wholesome salt breath as of fine Atlantic spray against the face, and a delicate fragrance of leaf-hidden, rock-protected May flowers, combine in a resultant which gives to Mrs. Austen's colonial stories of Plymouth a peculiarly sweet and healthful quality.

The "theatrephone" is the latest improvement in the line of telephonic inventions. It has been tested recently in London, and is said to have worked satisfactorily. It is able to supply at private houses the music of the opera or the active dialogue of any farce or comedy on the London stage. All the large hotels propose to place several of these wonderful phones in the public rooms, where by dropping a shilling in the slot one may enjoy ten minutes of the opera or theater. In Paris this instrument has already about 1,000 subscribers.

'Twill never be a "go" until an attachment is invented by means of which the theater toilets and the tenor and ballet girls can be viewed.

The woman who stays at home and allows the husband and children to go off for a good time without her, acts very foolishly—as does also the one who allows her daughters to grow up without sharing with her some of the cares and responsibilities of the home work—and is doing her children an injury rather than a benefit. Women do not always stay at home from the much needed vacation or outing from lack of time or because of the work, but for lack of means. Men and women both need these relaxations from toil—and often long for them when stern duty and lack of means forbid. P. P.

"Moving" and a Good Bye.

Dear Friends of the Household: I'm just going to sit right down this minute and tell you "all about everything" as we used to say when girls at school. In those days I used always to be wishing "something would happen," but in these later years the happenings come so fast and find us oft so ill prepared to meet them. The first event following my convalescence from a serious illness was our removal to a new home—perhaps some of you know what moving means. We were sorry to leave the dear home on M. street and our many kind friends there, but it seemed quite necessary for various reasons, and so here we are among strangers again. My "John" often says, "Yes, it is much more convenient for me, but I wish for your sake we had staid where we were." We were just nicely settled when word came from the old homestead in Ohio that a dear parent was fatally ill, it was feared. But thank God our fears were not realized, and though the verdict "death-doomed" pronounced by the family physician is still hanging over us, we must yet hope even against discouragement that the dread sentence will not be realized. "Hope on, hope ever."

Another grief is voiced in song by the dear mother, and with her permission I send you the verses, and also a notice clipped from a paper of the date, which will make the meaning plainer:

A. A. Bartow, of the Sandusky public schools, has accepted a $1,500 position in the public schools of Tacoma, Washington, and leaves this week for that place. Mr. Bartow is a Milan boy and has many friends who congratulate him on his good fortune.—Norwalk Reflector.

(Mr. Bartow, with all the dignity and honor of such positions in the educational field is "my boy," to the mother who thus sang the parting to him and his dear family, which the mothers of the Household will appreciate. It was in the waning days of the last summer that the lines were written.)

PARTING HOURS.

I could not sleep for the moon was too bright
And the cricket sang loud in the August night,
As I leaned from my window musingly,
These are the words it sung to me.

To-morrow they go! to-morrow they go!
They whom I loved and tended so;
They go to-morrow, but many's the day
Ere they return, for, far away

They've caught the cry of Westward ho!
And, past the Rockies' peaks of Snow,
Where Puget Sound leads to the Sea
Henceforth my children's home will be.

The little brown cot will be lone and still,
And the place where the children played on the hill,
Can I ever look upon it more
And they on the far Pacific shore?

Yes; other loved ones will clasp my hand,
And wander with me by the river strand,
Though the manhood's years I may not see
Of these boys that are so dear to me.

O, parting hours, how sad you be!
But something whispers hopefully
While the cricket pipes a merrier strain,
We shall meet again! we shall meet again.

Written Aug. 20th, 1891.

And now please pardon me for thus unburdening my heart. It is a relief to feel that some will sympathize. And in conclusion, though it is late, it can never be too late for good wishes—I wish you all a happy and prosperous new year.

A. C. E.

Adrian, Mich., Jan. 11, 1892.

A Girl's Good Thoughts.

What a mistaken idea it is that some people have that our girls, or young women rather, should never do anything for themselves, we mean in the way of making themselves independent. It is an idea that is met with very frequently, and one that has been commented upon dozens of times. Still we find those who look upon it in the light of a disgrace that women should enter the company of bread winners, that company whose ranks are swelling every day, and make themselves independent rather than dependent beings.

It is generally considered that a young man is of not much account, if, after he has finished his education, he does not immediately look about and set himself to work at his chosen trade or profession. Why should we not think the same of our young women? They are endowed with brains and capacities equal in every respect to those of the other sex—why should we expect them after leaving school to sit down with folded hands, and never put to any practical use the knowledge which they have spent years in acquiring? Even if they are not compelled to be their own support, is that any reason why they should become mere ciphers in the world?

It is not as many suppose only those young women who are compelled to provide for themselves who are numbered among the wage earners. We find in the professions and in many of the trades the daughters of some of our wealthiest and most prominent public men and women. How much more praise and admiration do those call forth than do those who lead an idle, aimless life, and whose desires and ambition do not rise above this.

Neither is it, as many suppose, our young women themselves in every case who are opposed to a life of independence; very often it is the parents of these young women, and it all arises, not from a selfish motive, but from a mistaken idea of protection.

In this day and age of the world, when free and independent thought and action are allowed, how much more satisfactory it is for any woman to know that she is filling a place that might otherwise be left vacant, and doing a work that might be left undone were she not in the world to accomplish it. BLANCHE.

Perrysburg.

Chat.

The plaintive story told in outline by L. C. H. will find a responsive interest in many readers who may not voice their own sorrows, or the sorrows of others that come under their observation. The ears of the sympathetic, as well as of the indifferent, and it might almost be said, of the earnest workers themselves, are weary of the woes of the drunkard and his wretched family; yet good men, with apparent satisfaction, tell us that "individual liberty" is not to be encroached upon, and the struggles that weak women and few men have made against the traffic have in no wise lessened its ravages. What remains to be done? Perhaps little for the present generation of drinkers, but the hope of the country lies in the education of the children, which is going on none too thoroughly.

It is the everyday joys and worries that we are privileged to bring into the Household that contribute to the domesticity and nearness-to-one another, that have always characterized our department. A. C. E. need make no apology, and may accept thanks for giving to us the graceful parting stanzas.

Blanche's well expressed sentiment is the growing one among our girls, and what a beautiful, helpful, useful, and therefore happy company they are coming to be. And the croakers who feared for the domestic life of our people if women should become too highly educated, are silenced by the observation that our high-minded, industrious, independent girls make the best homekeepers, wives and mothers.

Jeannette's witty little screed does her great credit. Will she just permit the Household to decree when she is likely to bore the members thereof?

A good letter from Auntie Toiler is on the program for next week.

CROUPY SOUNDS

At night, from baby's crib, are distracting to parents who are at a loss for a medicine equal to the emergency. Not so with those who have Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. A dose of this medicine affords certain and speedy relief. To cure colds, coughs, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, and the various disorders of the breathing apparatus, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has no equal. It soothes the inflamed tissue, expectorates and inspires. Cap. Call For Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for thirty years and have always found it the best remedy for croup, to which complaint my children were subject."

Dr. Bergen, City:

Dear Sir—I have been a victim to that awful disease known as asthma, all my life, and very often I would be down with it—not able to be out of the house—and have tried everything I could hear of, but they never did me much if any good. I was finally persuaded to try your cure. So, after taking a few bottles of it, I was entirely free from asthma and have not had any since and don't feel that I ever will. I always keep a bottle on hand, but don't think I will ever have occasion to use it. I can cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers of asthma.

BUCKEYES TO THE FRONT

And of Course They Are Anti-Mormon.

Utah's Territorial Legislature Organized,

With a Sprinkling of Ohio Men and a Democratic Staff of Officers—Observations on the Press Club Trip.

Special Correspondence Toledo Bee.

Salt Lake City, Jan. 12.

Yesterday the territorial legislature of Utah organized for the first time in the history of the territory, by electing a democratic speaker and staff of democratic officials. Many of the Press league delegates visited the council chamber and were corteously received. A glance at the personnel of the members show the singular fact that but six out of the thirty-six legislators are natives of Utah. Of the remaining 20 their nationality is as follows: Ohio, 4; Pennsylvania, 2; Virginia, Iowa, New York, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Vermont, New Jersey, Nevada, 1 each; of foreign birth four were born in England, three in Scotland, three in Canada, two in Ireland, one in Germany and one in Sweden. It is, perhaps, a stranger combination of nationalities than can be found in any other legislative body in the world.

Of the nine members of the legislature elected from Salt Lake City, four are distinctively Ohioans. Inasmuch as Ohio is interested in the welfare of her sons who may have wandered away from her apron strings and claims what glory they may win as her own, a brief sketch of these Utah-Ohio legislators may not be uninteresting.

R. J. Moran, the recognized labor leader of the territory, was elected by the largest majorities of any on his ticket. He is pronounced anti-Mormon as are all his copatriots mentioned herein. He hails from Cincinnati, where he learned the plumbing business and is now one of the leading boss plumbers of this city.

Henry W. Lawrence, another member, hails from Lima. Eschewing his adopted religion—Mormonism—he has become a leader in the anti-Mormon crusade.

W. H. Irvine was born in Knox county. He was elected on the liberal ticket by a large majority, and is one of the heaviest real estate owners in the city.

Judge R. N. Baskin, another member, was born at Hillsboro, and will be, it is said, the next mayor of Salt Lake city. The judge was a personal friend of Allen G. Thurman, and is one of the progressive men of this city.

John A. Marshall is the fourth of the Ohio delegation and would be known as a capitalist were it not for the fact that the word capitalist out here would be almost equal to calling a man a highway robber.

Among other Ohioans whom we have met and who have entertained the Ohio delegation are Charles Varian, United States attorney. He hails from the vicinity of Cleveland; Jas. Ricketts, a prominent capitalist, a native of Canton; G. S. Holmes, the genial manager of the Knutsford, the finest hotel in the west, and D. B. Burley, manager of the Union Pacific railroad, and to whom our delegation is under many obligations for services rendered. So it will be readily seen that the Buckeye state is prominently represented in the capital city of Utah.

For the first time in the history of the city the gentile and Mormon press have united in extending welcome to a delegation of visiting strangers. For a city of 55,000, Salt Lake City has the best and largest newspapers of any city in the country. They are better and brighter than those of Omaha or Denver. The News, the organ of Mormondom, is a newsy afternoon sheet, while the Herald, formerly Mormon, now democratic, and the Tribune, republican, are the best eight-page papers outside of—well, Ohio.

A committee of newspaper men, headed by the governor and the mayor, met our train 20 miles out, and each delegate was presented with a handsome badge.

One of the novel features of the trip was the hot salt water bath at Glenwood last night. The pool covers two acres and is unsheltered. We reached Glenwood in the midst of a blinding snowstorm, but such was the temperature of the atmosphere in the vicinity of the pool that the delegates disrobed and plunged in as if it was the hottest day in July. It was a singular sight; over a hundred people disrobing in the midst of that snow storm at an hour when the inhabitants were deep in slumber and the clarion voice of the rooster gave notice of the coming dawn.

The excursion to the natural gas fields this afternoon was cold but pleasant. The first well is 12 miles from the city, and it looks as if it might be a gasser of considerable worth. The rock pressure is 185 pounds and the volume has not yet been measured. The well "came in" two weeks ago. Already two companies have been organized and the city council has given the necessary franchises. An expert from Peru, Ind., is the moving spirit in the enterprise, and everyone seems to rely on his word as if he were an oracle. Gas is found at a depth of about 450 feet, and is said not to be quite free from oil. It is believed that oil will also be found.

At Pueblo, Col., the gold fever has again set in, and old timers were to be seen packing and loading up for another tramp to Pike's Peak, which from that point seems so near and yet so far. All along the line of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, which follows the Arkansas river from Pueblo to Leadville and passes through the famous Grand Canon, indications of the fever could be seen and heard. Companies have been organized and the word is "To Cripple Creek or bust."

Of all the cities along the line of our trip, Denver seems to have the most vim and vigor. Our party was in charge of a committee of citizens, everyone of whom was a boomer from Boomerville. To hear them talk one would think there was but one state in the Union, and that Colorado, and but one town in Colorado, and that Denver. Chas. Evans, formerly a reporter on the Blade, and now of the Chicago Tribune, run the delegation up against a native mineral shebang in Denver, which cost the crowd several hundred dollars. Next to Marshal P. Wilder, Evans is the practical joker of the contingent.

Wilder, Evans and Coates, of the Mail and Express are the managers of the mighty concerts held in the dining car and the programs are delightful.

The delegation is already loaded down with souvenirs presented enroute and there is talk of chartering an extra baggage car on the return journey to accommodate the extra baggage. MURPHY.

Do not weaken the stomach with strong chemicals. Simmons Liver Regulator is mild, but effective.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Secretary C. R. Bowen has issued the following notice:

The annual meeting of the Lucas Agricultural society will be held in the council rooms on Adams street, Toledo, on January 20, 1892, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the annual settlement, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before it.

Rid yourself of the discomfort and danger attending a cold by using Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant, an old established curative for coughs, sore throat and pulmonary affections.

MAKE IT NATIONAL.

Chicago has started a crusade against the man who persists in carrying his hands in his pockets on the streets, and thereby converting his elbows into instruments of positive danger to his fellows. If it will enlarge that platform so as to include the woman who carries her umbrella at an angle of 45 degrees, and the youth who puffs cigarette smoke in one's face, Boston will join the windy city in its campaign and make a national affair of it.—Boston Journal.

Clifton Springs, Battle Creek and Hot Springs Sanitariums, all famous health resorts, are using Garfield Tea in their treatment of constipation and female weakness.

A BRIDGE IN DANGER.

High Water and Ice in the Merrimac to Cause Trouble.

Manchester, N. H., Jan. 16.—The North Weare trestle bridge which crosses the Merrimac and which has been carried away once this fall by high water and anchor ice has again swung down stream several inches, rendering it unsafe for trains to cross. Should the ice above the dam go out and pack in above the trestle, as it promises to do, with the river at its present height, the bridge will be swept away.

PREVENTION IS BETTER

Than cure, and those who are subject to rheumatism can prevent attacks by keeping the blood pure and free from the acid which causes the disease. For this purpose Hood's Sarsaparilla is used with great success.

There are many forms of nervous debility in men that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night sweats, etc., should try them.

NO TIME FOR SYMPATHY.

London, Jan. 16.—In the convention of the Miners' federation, now in session at Stoke-upon-Trent, a resolution expressing sympathy with the Prince and Princess of Wales in their bereavement was, after a heated discussion, rejected by a vote of 19 to 13.

TO PRAY FOR RELIEF.

London, Jan. 16.—The bishop of Chichester has ordered the clergy of his diocese to offer especial prayers for the abatement of the prevailing epidemic of influenza.

TAR AND TARTAR.

Splendid Performance by the Askin-Rork Company.

Lydia Thompson Next Tuesday—The New Play Incog—My Jack at the People's — Dramatic Notes.

A large audience at the Wheeler opera house last evening was given a delightful treat in the presentation of the sparkling comic opera, Tar and Tartar, by the splendid Askin and Rork Opera company.

The opera is a very clever bit of nonsense by Harry B. Smith, set to most pleasing music by Adam Itzel, jr.

The opera has something of a plot and is well written, the dialogue is extremely witty and kept the audience in roars of laughter, and some of the songs are very fine.

The music throughout is good, and the transcription of national airs in the last act was a bit of musical mechanism really remarkable.

Appropriate special scenery is used in setting the piece, and some magnificent costuming is done by the ladies.

The good qualities of the opera presented by such a company of talent as composes the Askin-Rork company makes the performance one of the best of the kind that has been seen in Toledo for years.

Digby Bell, as the shipwrecked sailor, Muley Hasson, afterwards made sultan, has wide opportunities for displaying his talent as a fun-maker, and he made the best of them, keeping the audience in a roar whenever he appeared. He also sings several songs during the play, and each time received encore after encore.

Laura Joyce Bell, as Alpaca, the scolding wife and queen of the harem, gave a spirited personation and displayed her splendid contralto voice to advantage.

Marion Manola, as Farina, a Circassian professional beauty, made the part what it was intended to be and sang with sweet voice and much expression. Her companion in the play, Josephine Knapp, as Taffeta, scored a success, with her rich powerful voice and pleasing manner.

Hilda Hollins, also won much applause by her clever work as Lamberkin, a lady of the harem and her Juno like form was well set off in the elaborate costumes she wore.

Hubert Wilke made much of the part of Cordamon, the picturesque Bedouin chief and Charles Wayne, as Kartoon, the the athletic joker and Fred Frear, the court physician, caused much amusement by their antics.

The company and chorus is very large and without a single poor member. The voices are well balanced and harmonious and on the whole this performance is a rare thing for the Toledo theaters, and gives the patrons a taste of what is possible in light opera.

The Tar and Tartar will be repeated this evening and the sale of seats has been very large.

Walter Sanford's latest, My Jack, is the theatrical novelty next week and the People's theater have been fortunate enough to secure it. It comes direct from New York where it was a great go from its first presentation. Two extra large baggage cars are employed by Manager Walter Sanford to transport the elegant scenery and mechanical effects for the proper presentation of the different scenes in My Jack.

The patrons are assured that none of the stock scenery will be used during this engagement for the scenery used and carried by this company is a multiplicity of stage pictures that cannot fail to interest the large clientelle of this popular theater.

My Jack is said to possess an entirely strong plot and situations. Mr. Sanfords has one of the best melodramatic companies now before the public and embraces the names of such well known actors as Henry Lee, Geo. Hoey, Geo. L. Montserrat, Chas. Frew, Edgar Forrest, Thomas Garrick, Ethel Barrington, Lillian Brainard, Jennie Christie and others.

Lydia Thompson.

Lydia Thompson and her own comedy company will be at the Wheeler opera house next Tuesday. Miss Thompson is playing in a large repertoire this season and has with her a strong company of well known people.

The company have abundant opportunity in the selections they offer to display whatever talent they are capable of exercising as comedians.

The bill consists of a trio of delightful, airy, farcial productions, genuinely English—not stupidly deep, but bright, witty, sunshiny, and sparkling over with pure comedy, and containing many awkward situations which cause much merriment.

Tuesday evening's bill will contain three gems consisting of "My Friend Jarlet," "Uncle Dan" and "A Bric-a-Brac Shop."

"Incog."

Mr. Charles Dickinson, whose rank as one of the cleverest light comedians on the American stage is undisputed, will make his first appearance in this city on next Thursday evening. He will appear in the new play "Incog," by Mrs. Pacheco, a talented California lady.

In Incog, Mrs. Pacheco has struck the same vein from which has been evolved The Private Secretary. All the Comforts of Home and Mr. Wilkinson's Widows, and her Incog aims at the highest pinnacle of popular fame.

The story of Incog is the story of a young man, being driven from home by his father for refusing to marry his ward, and persisting in his determination to marry the ward's compaion, determines to return incog so as to be near the object of his affections. To this end he disguises himself so as to resemble a photograph which he has picked up.

Unfortunately the photograph is that of one of a pair of twin brothers who cannot be distinguished from each other, one of whom has a wife and the other a sweetheart living in the same house. The brothers both arrive, of course, shortly after his appearance. It is upon the complications that arise out of this situation that the play and the fun turn.

American Artists.

Manager D' Cycy Carte appears to have brought a storm about his ears by his declaration that no season of opera can be sucessfully carried on in London without the assistance of American artists. It is, nevertheless, a fact that American singers are extremely popular with London audiences, in opera, concert, and oratorio. However, unpalatable the fact may be to English artists, it may be conceded that Manager Carte is right, and his opinion will be heartily endorsed by Manager Augustus Harris, Manager Horace Sedger and others. But the state of affairs is by no means wholly attributable to the superiority of American artists in all cases. The demand for singers in London is enormous, and England cannot supply it. The field over there is ample for the vocalists of both countries, and it is a matter for rejoicing that such cordial relations obtain between American and English artists in London. Long may so harmonious a state of affairs exist! The people of the United States are equally hearty in the welcome extended to artists from England.

The Advance Liar.

Coming through on the Pennsylvania limited recently, a traveler overheard part of a conversation between a couple of typical advance agents, a class of men evidently intended to raise lying to a place among the finest arts. "How is 'Superba' doing?" asked one. "Colossal!" answered another. "Why, we give up counting tickets altogether; we just weigh them, and any odd measure we dump back to the local treasurer to be spent with the gang. But how about 'Fantasma?'" "Ah!" rejoined the first speaker. "We are on the economic plan this season, and only count our tickets to save the price of scales; cutting down expenses everywhere; don't pay any more transfer bills, even." "How's that?" was the query. "Well," was the reply, "this is our ninth season on the road and the scenery and baggage have got so used to being carried from depot to theater and back that this year, after a little persuasion, they have consented to walk." "So long," said one. "Ta-ta!" said the other, and one of them left the train.

Salvini Coming.

An engagement has been made with W. M. Wilkinson, manager for Alexander Salvini, the romantic actor, now playing in Baltimore, by which he will come to Toledo, January twenty-ninth and thirtieth and play "Don Caesar" and the "Three Guardsmen."

Dramatic Notes.

Sadie Martinot will star this season in a star comedy called Pompadour.

Joseph Jefferson has decided to revive Rip Van Winkle next season.

The Little Tycoon with R. E. Graham, recently played to $12,500 in two weeks at the Grand opera house New Orleans.

The Danger Signal will be presented at Wheeler's this evening for the last time. This piece has played to a fair week's business, but not as large as it deserved.

Henry E. Dixey was arrested in Boston the other day at the instance of William Gill, who claims that Dixey owes him a $2,700 balance for writing "The Seven Ages."

Mascagni's second opera, Amico Fritz, is to be followed by a third, Les Rantzau, founded on the drama by Erckmann-Chatrian, and that by a fourth, built upon a sketch by Heine, entitled Radcliffe.

J. K. Paine and E. A. MacDowell are said to have been selected to compose "original works" for the world's fair. If they do compose that kind they'll do more than some foreign composers are accustomed to do.

"The Last Days of Pompeii" is the name of a new symphonic poem by Ernst Henser, a pupil of the Cologne conservatorium. It was performed in that city last month, and produced a very favorable impression.

The last act of The Countess Roudine which Modjeska produces, is from the pen of Minnie Maddern Fiske. This act is said to be the strongest act of the play, and to contain many excellent situations which offer Modjeska excellent opportunities.

Mr. Augustus Thomas is said to have achieved originality in his great play, "Alabama," which will shortly be seen in this city, in face of the fact that the main incident in his plot is the reunion of an old southern planter to a renegade son, who had cast his fortunes with the north at the beginning of the war.

It is reported that Fatty Stewart, of the Fat Men's Club, owns an island in Chesapeake bay, on which an aluminum clay deposit has recently been discovered, so rich that the metal can be manufactured for 15 cents a pound. Stewart closed his company at Springfield Thursday night, and left for his island to look after his new find.

The famous Transcription of National airs that occurs in the last act of the "Tar and Tartar" has created more comment than any music that has been written for years, and justly so; because it is certainly a most marvellous piece of musical mechanism, that stirs the patriotic blood, and sends it surging through the veins in a perfect tumult, and creates a whirlwind of applause whenever it is sung.

It is said of Paderewski, the Polish pianist over whom the eastern critics are raving, that he is "passionately addicted to pool." Thus is given another blow to the fond belief of enthusiasts that the masters of any art live in an atmosphere permeated by the spirit of that art and have but slight interest in the ordinary affairs of life. Paderewski, piano and pool are alliterative, but the combination is destructive of illusions.

The benefit for the Actors' Fund at the Broadway theater, New York, on the afternoon of Tuesday, Jan. 19, promises to be a most brilliant affair. It will last over four hours, Francis and an act of The Lion Tamer, Russell's Comedians, the Kendals in A Happy Pair, Modjeska in a scene from Mary Stuart, Herbert Kelcey and Miss Georgia Cavan in a new sketch, Harrigan and company in an act of The Last of the Hogans, and Maggie Cline in new songs will be some of the acts on the program.

That strapping exponent of muscularity in song, Miss Maggie Cline, who delights the audiences at Antonio Pastor's symphonic soirees, says the Musical Courier, is reported to have declined the role of Santuzza in Cavalleria Rusticana, giving as a reason that she never could restrain herself in the great duo with Turriddu, in which Santuzza is thrown violently earthward. Miss Cline's great temperament would militate against her reading the part objectively, and the Turriddu of the occasion would probably suffer greatly at her hands.

AHEAD OF ORPHEUS.

"That is Orpheus," said the young man; "he was a wonderful musician. He was such a forceful player as to move trees and stones." "So!" replied the old gentleman, looking at the statue in a contemplative mood; "not so bad; but you never heard that cousin of yours play. She's only a little puny thing, but they do say she's made no less than 20 whole families move, and I guess it's no more'n the truth."—Boston Transcript.

CATARRH CURED

BY THE INHALATION OF COMPRESSED MEDICATED GASES.

Specific Remedies for All Head, Nose, Throat and Lung Diseases Administered Through an Automatic Hydraulic Inhalation Medicine, for Either Home or Office Treatment.

All efforts to permanently cure catarrh, throat and lung diseases, by spraying any kind of liquid into the nose and throat, and taking medicine into the stomach, must inevitably fail, for the reason that any form of liquid or spray cannot possibly reach the affected parts where these diseases exist. The repeated failures of people afflicted with catarrh to secure any permanent relief by these old methods, have caused many to despair of ever being permanently cured. While the quackery, so largely practiced by some advertising doctors, as well as some so-called regular physicians, is to be regretted, yet it probably does some good in that the charlatan stirs afflicted people up to the necessity of being treated, and after they have been plucked by the quack they finally seek out a skilled specialist and are cured.

But the object of this brief article is not to annihilate quacks for they will always be with us as long as there are sick people who want to get cured CHEAP and quick, or those who want a guarantee to be entirely made over in a month. Our object is rather to direct the attention of thinking people to that newly discovered method of curing catarrh, throat, bronchial and lung troubles. We refer to the scientific process of INHALATION or breathing into the cavities of the nose, head, ear, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs, condensed gases, medicated with specific remedies composed of redistilled extracts from the vegetable kingdom. This method originated by the European specialist in Toledo, Dr. Kalkhoff, is attracting the attention of great specialists in both the old and new world.

This scientific process of INHALATION of medical gases cures catarrh and pulmonary diseases where all other remedies have failed. The specific medicines are carried by the compressed gases to all the diseased surfaces where liquid or spray cannot be forced. Then the remedies are at the same time breathed into the lungs and thence into the blood, which is thus enriched and freed from catarrhal and other poisons. This inhalation method of Dr. Kalkhoff is now largely practiced at his extensive offices and surgery, 505 and 507 Summit street, between Oak and Orange. The inhalation revitalizes the blood and so promotes the growth of a healthy membrane, lining of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes, rendering them unaffected by frequent changes of atmospheric temperature. The frightful increase of catarrh is largely caused by the running down of the system and the consequent chilled and sensitive condition of the mucus membrane lining of the nasal cavities. This inhalation process removes the local disease and the constitutional cause at the same time, and can be administered by either home or office treatment.

Peculiar

Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Peculiar in its medicinal merits, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown. No other sarsaparilla and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its "good name at home,"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad. No other preparation ever attained so rapidly nor held so steadfastly the confidence of all classes of people. Peculiar in the brain-work which it represents, Hood's Sarsaparilla combines all the knowledge which modern research has developed, in medical science, with many years practical experience in preparing medicines. Which—Man or Shirt?

Has the man grown, or has the flannel shrunk? Usually, the shirt is to blame. No, not that, either—but the way it's washed.

Flannels ought to be washed with Pearline. If you're buying new ones, start right. Have them washed only with Pearline (direction on every package) and they won't shrink. As for the old ones, Pearline can't make them any larger, but begin with it at once and it will keep them from growing smaller. It will keep them from the wear and tear of the washboard, too.

Danger

As one wash is sufficient to ruin flannels, great care should be exercised as to the use of the many imitations which are being offered by unscrupulous grocers or peddlers. Pearline is never peddled. 314 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

SPECIALTIES:

Female, Lung, Private and Chronic Diseases.

CATARRH, so very common in this climate, is not a local disease as is generally supposed, but is constitutional, showing itself locally in some of the mucous membranes of the body, and to remove it permanently you have to remove the cause. In fact the only way of treating any disease is by removing the cause that produces it, and nature will do the rest. This is the manner in which we treat all diseases under our specialties and the secret of our success is in the ability to determine the starting point or cause of your trouble.

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR RIGHT— The Muskegon Improvement Co. is organized under the laws of Michigan for the purpose of raising funds to induce manufacturers to locate in their city.

The company purchased a tract of land, sub-divided it into lots, and sold to citizens of Muskegon in one day 2,800 lots at a uniform price of $120 per lot.

Some of these lots have been resold for $1,500, and many of them for from six to ten hundred dollars each.

Five hundred houses and twelve immense factories is the result of the sale, the profits being used to erect the factory buildings which were presented free to the present owners.

The same company now offer 1,800 lots at a uniform price of $165 each. Terms only $5 cash and $2 a week or $8 a month. The lots in the second sale are more worth three hundred dollars than those in the first sale were worth one hundred and thirty dollars, on account of said improvements.

The company issue a bond backed by a million dollars to duplicate in 1892 what was done in 1891.

Send your name and postoffice address and we will cheerfully mail you free, Plats, Maps, a beautiful Bird's Eye View of a city of thirty thousand, and such information as every intelligent person will appreciate.

If you do not become a purchaser you will find this information valuable and instructive. This is the once chance of your life. It doesn't cost anything to investigate. Write to Chas. M. Steele & Sons, Sole Agents, Muskegon, Mich. 16jan2

THE WAY TO GO.

You have seen California frequently mentioned in newspapers and magazines. Perhaps a friend has been there and writes enthusiastic letters back home about the climate and the fruits. It makes you anxious to see the country for yourself.

The time to go is in the fall and winter. Then work here is least pressing and California climate is most pleasing. The way to go is via Santa Fe route, on one of that line's popular, personally-conducted parties, leaving Chicago every Saturday evening and leaving Kansas City every Sunday morning.

Special agents and porters in attendance. Pullman tourist sleepers are used, furnished with bedding, mattresses, toilet articles, etc. Second-class tickets honored. Write to Geo. E. Gilman, Michigan Passenger Agent Santa Fe route, for folder describing these excursions.

Ask your grocer for Taylor's flour.

CARD OF THANKS

The trustees of the Toledo Boys' Home wish to return thanks for the kind assistance they received in their entertainment at the opera house on the afternoon and evening of December 29. To Mrs. Ainsworth, Miss Clouse and Miss Fisk for music; Mrs. Wheeler and her class in the minuet; Mrs. Irving for recitations; Mr. Tony Leon for the orchestral overture for matinee and evening; Whitney & Currier for piano; Rev. E. W. Hunt for his kind assistance, both afternoon and evening; the press for notices; the Moreton Truck Co.; Mrs. Suder for floral decorations; Barkdull Bros. and the Oblinger Printing Co., through Mr. P. C. Hudson, for tickets and programs; Mrs. Arnett for the success of her entertainment, and to all the young people who participated in it; and last, but not least, our kind friends who bought tickets "to help a worthy charity," thereby making it a financial success.

REMOVAL.

John Hintze, formerly at 927 Summit street, has removed his saloon to 514 Cherry street, where he will be pleased to meet his friends.

A PRIZE MOTHER-IN-LAW.

The young lady remarked: "That gentleman's mother, is my mother's mother-in-law." What relation was the young lady to the gentleman? The Queen will give either a Mason & Risch or Steinway fine toned upright piano to the first person answering the above problem correctly. An elegant gold watch for the second correct answer; a China dinner set for the third correct answer; an elegant silk dress pattern for the fourth correct answer, and many other valuable prizes, all of which will be announced in the January issue of The Queen. Valuable special prizes will be given for the first correct answers from each state. As the object of offering these prizes is to attract attention to our popular family magazine in the U. S., each person answering must enclose six U. S. two-cent stamps for sample number containing full particulars. The Queen is the most successful publication in Canada. By sending to-day you may secure a handsome prize. Address The Canadian Queen, Toronto, Canada.

ROMANTIC STORIES.

Which Are Now Being Told of Speaker and Mrs. Crisp.

A pretty story of a romance in the life of Speaker Crisp comes from Georgia. While the speaker was a struggling young lawyer in Ellaville he fell in love with Miss Clara Burton, but his attentions were discouraged by her father, who naturally wanted his daughter to marry well from a money point of view. The old gentleman was firm and the young couple slightly discouraged.

The young lawyer, but freshly admitted to the bar, lived in his office, a room in the old court hose. Here were all his worldly possessions—a few law books, a bed, a trunk and a few chairs. At this juncture he was taken sick, and in his cheerless room was attended by his physician, Dr. J. N. Cheney.

Miss Burton had arranged it that the doctor should keep her well advised as to the condition of his patient; that he should let her know his exact condition, concealing nothing; and in one of his communications to her he betrayed an uneasiness as to the result of the case.

Immediately this young woman, despite her father's well known opposition, requested the doctor to deal honestly and candidly with her, and to inform her whether her young lover was having the care and attention which he should have, and notified him that if he was in need of particularly tender nursing and watchful care, she would come at once to his lonely chamber and have the marriage ceremony between them performed so that she could properly care for and nurse him.

This proved the turning point in Judge Crisp's life. When the physician read this note to the sick man it proved the needed medicine in his case. He was at once inspired. The discouragements incident to poverty in the case of struggling young men had hitherto possessed and dominated him. But then and there he banished forever all hopelessness and despair of the future, and in evidence said to his professional friend:

"Get me up from this bed. Henceforth I'll be a man. My life shall be consecrated to a woman with such pluck as that. I will marry her despite my poverty, and she shall never be ashamed of me."

He has kept his word.

Editor Jones and Mrs. Crisp.

When Mrs. Crisp, wife of Speaker Crisp, was a schoolgirl at the Talbotton academy, there was a young student there named Jones. He was bright, had pleasing manners, and was popular. He grew very fond of this little lady and they became sweethearts. At the close of their school days they drifted apart. He went north for a few years. Each formed new attachments and married. The husband of the Talbotton lady rose steadily in his profession, and in a few years sat upon the bench. Then he went to congress, and by his ability took the position of leader of his party in a memorable fight of a minority against an unfair majority. His party swept the country in the next election, and he was put forward as a candidate for the speakership. Mr. Jones had returned to the south, and lived in a neighboring state for a time, and then removed to St. Louis, where he was the editor of an influential paper. In Judge Crisp's canvass, his earliest and most persistent opponent on the press was this editor. The judge's friends thought that the editor was needlessly severe, and Mrs. Crisp said herself: "I do not understand it. He was uncommonly genial in his schoolboy days."

Hoofland's Bitters regulate the bowels.

RAIN DISAGREES WITH THEM.

In a note recently published on the camel, Mr. Lehman calls attenton to the sensibility of that animal to dampness. Camels are never found in the regions of tropical rains, and when they travel there with the caravans, the season of rains is greatly dreaded for them. Their absence from the Atlas mountains during the northerly rainy season is also explained by the great humidity of the air. Temperature, on the contrary, seems to have no effect on them.—Pars Revue Scientifique.

Facts speak louder than words. Simmons Liver Regulator has cured bowel disorders.

NOTHING LIKE THEM.

The flyers that are seen on Collingwood avenue and other noted drives in Toledo, McGlynn, the Summit street liveryman, is doing much toward making it lively for the boys these days of fine "sledding." He has in his stables some speedy animals, fine sleighs and elegant robes. His 'phone number is 1035.

Taylor's flour needs no baking directions because it is made from pure wheat and contains no foreign ingredients or adulterants.

Do You Know What We Are Doing at Our One-Third-Off Sale?
ONE THIRD OFF — ONE THIRD OFF — ONE THIRD OFF
We are offering to the citizens of Toledo an opportunity that never comes more than once a year and when it does come you want to grapple it to your memory with bands of steel. Do not forget it. THIS IS WHAT WE ARE DOING!
WE ARE SELLING
MEN'S AND BOYS' OVERCOATS ONE-THIRD OFF!
MENS' AND BOYS' SUITS ONE-THIRD OFF!
MEN'S AND BOYS' HATS AND CAPS ONE-THIRD OFF!
MEN'S AND BOYS' UNDERWEAR ONE-THIRD OFF!
You all know that we handle the best made clothing that's made in America and America beats the world! And every one knows that we sell at regular prices so low as not only to meet but to distance the keenest competition.
Our Regular Prices are Always the Lowest, but Now there is One-Third Off our Regular Prices!
So that you can readily understand the unparalleled values we are now giving—are below zero! Profit or loss we no longer have to consider. The immense stock of merchandise contained in our building WE OWN, IT IS OURS, IT IS ALL PAID FOR, WE OWE NOBODY!
And we can do just as we please with it—and just now it is our pleasure to discharge some of the obligations we are under to the people of Toledo—by giving back to them in this great sacrifice sale, a part of the wealth and profit they have so kindly bestowed upon us.
THIS IS MOCKETT'S METHODS
We do not believe in burying our goods away from one season to another only to resurrect them again and try to pass them off upon the people as new goods—that isn't our style—and since it is too late to sell the stock we have left on our hands and realize any profit on same—we deem it better to sell if at a sacrifice.
